LEAGUE HEARTS HARDENED AGAINST ITALIANS

BRITISH PLANS WORRY ROME FLEET MOVEMENTS CAUSE ALARM ITALY FORTIFYING HER AEGEAN ISLANDS

(SPECIAL TO "TELEGRAPH")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1884. Received, Sept. 14, 8 a.m.)

Rome, Sept. 13.

While Italian warships are engaged in exercises in the vicinity of Malta, a cry of alarm has been raised in Italy over the alleged British naval preparations in the Mediterranean. The newspaper Azione Coloniale, which often is the mouthpiece of the Colonial Office, declares that nine British naval units have been added to the Mediterranean Fleet, British garrisons have been reinforced, docks, forts, offensive and defensive works have been organised and in one case strengthened.

The paper asserts that the bases at Gibraltar and Malta, Cyprus, Haifa and Alexandria are in a state of offensive and defensive readiness.

"As the level of armaments is reached which begins to threaten our position in the Mediterranean and Red Sea, every arrival of a British unit in our seas can only invite counter-measures on our part."

"If there is any question of transferring the British Home Fleet to our shores, our reply must be much more serious."—Reuter Special.

ITALIAN PREPARATIONS

Athens, Sept. 13.
The greatest military and naval activity is proceeding in the Dodecanese Islands, in the Aegean Sea, where Italy is transporting troops, stores and aircraft. Destroyers are at present patrolling and surveying the seas between the islands of Patmos, Leros, Cos and Calymnos.

Heavy coast defence guns have been transferred from Calymnos to Leros. The coasts of all the islands are heavily guarded and motor launch owners have been threatened with instant death if they are caught assisting the inhabitants to escape to Greece.

The Dodecanese islands were divided, following the Great War, between France and Italy, by an arrangement agreeable to both.—Reuter.

FIRE SWEEPS SHIBATA

FIFTY INJURED IN FURIOUS BLAZE

(Special to "Telegraph")

Shibata, Sept. 14.
A disastrous fire has swept this city, destroying over 1,000 buildings. Many theatres were burned to the ground, for they were in the centre of the fire area.

Fifty persons were injured, some of them seriously, as the blaze progressed and desperate efforts were made to fight it.

There were no fatalities, the authorities report, which is surprising, since the fire swept through crowded districts with great speed.

The loss is estimated at over 1,000,000 yen.—United Press.

NINE KILLED IN AIR CRASH

SCHOOL-GIRLS ARE VICTIMS

Panama City, Sept. 13.
Robert Marstrand, pilot, and eight passengers aboard a Maek Air Line plane, were killed when the machine crashed in the mountains near Beluco to-day. The passengers included two school-girls.—United Press.

MAKING WORLD HISTORY

EPIC WORK DONE AT GENEVA

PEACE LINKS FORGED

(Special to "Telegraph")

Geneva, Sept. 13.

The general opinion is expressed here that this has been one of the most constructive weeks in the world's history since the close of the Great War.

"Every day has tightened the clutch around Italy's throat," one delegate said bluntly.

In a large sense, however, European statesmen have forged anew, and stoutly, links of collective security against war.

Five experts were labouring to-day, and will continue to do so Saturday and Sunday, fashioning a solution for the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

M. Laval's oration is considered a friendly admonition to Signor Mussolini that the world is lining up against unjustified employment of force.

The Little Entente spokesman anticipates efforts to secure the exchange of letters between M. Laval and Mr. Anthony Eden whereby England will guarantee a similar attitude for any Danubian crisis which she has adopted in this present impasse, while the Little and Balkan Entente are watching Germany and trying to determine her intention with respect to Austria.

Paris diplomats said British pressure and M. Herriot's radical party influence converted M. Laval to support sanctions as did Sir Samuel Hoare's assurance of British adherence to the collective security system.—Special.

HUGE TELESCOPE

London, Sept. 13.
An order for a 74-inch reflecting telescope, which will cost approximately £24,000, for Pretoria, South Africa, is to be executed by the Newcastle-on-Tyne firm of optical manufacturers, Sir Howard Grubb, Parsons and Company.—British Wireless.

FINAL PEACE EFFORT

MAY ACT UNDER COVENANT

SANCTIONS ENVISAGED

Geneva, Sept. 13.

The League Council's Committee of Five, which is seeking to negotiate a peaceful settlement of the Italo-Ethiopian dispute, held two meetings to-day and is apparently engaged in the task of reshaping the whole structure of the Paris compromise proposals with a view to finding a basis acceptable to Italy.

It is possible some concession in the matter of security to France and England may be envisaged but there is no question of any concession involving Ethiopia's sovereign rights or political independence.

British official circles emphasise that there can be no question of a mandate, as the idea of a mandate is fundamentally opposed by the fact that Ethiopia is a member of the League.

The Committee of Five will submit its report from the League, as distinct from any report which may come from Britain and France individually, and it will constitute the final effort at conciliation by the League Council.

The report will be submitted to the two parties to the dispute and if rejected by Italy, the Council will have no other course than to proceed under Article XV of the Covenant, which means a commission of enquiry, recommendations, and eventually sanctions.

Intense interest has been aroused by Mr. Charles de Water's declaration, as the South African representative is the first official delegate to proclaim that his country will not recoil from sanctions. His statement that there is a danger of widespread risings of the blacks in Africa has created a deep impression.

It is generally believed that M. Pierre Laval, the French Prime Minister, will make a final effort to induce Signor Mussolini of Italy to take a more amenable attitude in the present crisis.—Reuter.

SUPPORT SANCTIONS

Geneva, Sept. 13.

South Africa will not hesitate in the event of a breach of the League Covenant to stand by the Covenant to the extent of applying sanctions, should the League members decide unanimously upon this course, declared Mr. Charles de Water, South Africa's delegate, in a broadcast speech from Geneva.

He declared the Government of the Union insisted, at the price of being compelled to consider its continued association with the League, that the parties to the Italo-Ethiopian dispute should comply with procedure for settling their quarrel, as laid down by the Covenant and the treaties existing between them for this purpose.—Reuter.

GRAVE WARNING

Geneva, Sept. 13.

Mr. Charles de Water warned the League to-day that an Ethiopian war might cause a general rising of the blacks in Africa.

League circles are jubilant at Mr. Cordell Hull's statement and M. Laval's speech has created a profound impression.

Meanwhile it is rumoured that Chancellor Hitler's speech at Nuremberg Sunday was intended to dispel any British misgivings of a possibility of German collaboration with Italy.—United Press.

ENDORSES APPEAL

New York, Sept. 13.

President Roosevelt has announced further endorsement of Mr. Cordell Hull's appeal to Italy and Ethiopia to adhere to the promises made under the Kellogg Pact and not to resort to war.

President Roosevelt expressed concern at the situation and responding to a question at the regu-

His Excellency Mr. N. L. Smith, who has assumed the acting Governorship of the Colony consequent on the indisposition of Sir Thomas Southern.

Italy Has No Fear Of Sanctions

CALM IN SPITE OF FRENCH STAND

LAVAL SEEKS COMPROMISE

Rome, Sept. 13.
Despite the apparently uncompromising nature of M. Pierre Laval's speech to the League in support of Great Britain and the Covenant, the feeling here is calmer this evening.

It is the impression that M. Laval's bark is worse than his bite, and that he will not consent to join in enforcing sanctions against Italy in any circumstances.—Reuter.

BERLIN VIEW

Berlin, Sept. 13.
It is generally believed that the French Prime Minister, M. Laval, does not consider himself anti-Italian in his recent expression of French policy.—Reuter.

decided that M. Puflich of Yugoslavia will speak to the Assembly on behalf of the former group, and M. Maximos of Greece, on behalf of the latter.

Both will strongly support the attitudes of M. Laval and Sir Samuel Hoare, French and British spokesmen respectively, urging the necessity of upholding the League Covenant.—Reuter.

FAIR BUT JUST

Paris, Sept. 13.
M. Pierre Laval's stand for the League of Nations is termed "generous but just" by one authority, and from the French Prime Minister's utterances it is deduced that Great Britain has promised support of sanctions against any aggressor in any part of Europe.

It is known that M. Laval is still endeavouring to talk Signor Mussolini over to a different frame of mind.

This latter idea forms the basis of two reports current here. One is published in Le Temps, and says that the League Committee of Five is about to make a new offer to Signor Mussolini which would give Italy a virtual mandate over Ethiopia with guarantees of both

New League Of Nations Suggested

JAPAN, AMERICA AND GERMANY?

DIVISION OF RESOURCES

(Special to "Telegraph")

(By Telegraph. Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1884. Received, September 14, 8.20 a.m.)

Tokyo, Sept. 14.

The Foreign Office said to-day it would be premature to comment upon the suggestion at Geneva that the United States, Germany and Japan would initiate a new organization to include the nations outside the League of Nations and by this means endeavour to promote world peace.

The Foreign Office would not comment at this stage upon the suggestion of redistribution of the colonial empires in order to obtain a wider spread of natural resources.

However, a spokesman said that the latter suggestion indicated the willingness of some circles to consider "an actual basis for peace, rather than instruments of peace. There is a considerable difference."

UNEQUAL DISTRIBUTION

He said the world's natural resources were very unequally distributed, for which reason Japanese industry and commerce had been subjected to a severe struggle.

Referring to comments abroad that Japan was progressing excellently without possessing such resources, he said: "I don't think so."

The remarks of the Foreign Office spokesman were taken to indicate that Japan is willing to discuss the subject of redistribution of natural resources if and when approached, although the spokesman did not reply to the question as to whether the country would fully participate in redistribution.

ARMS EXPORTS

The spokesman said that Japanese firms had not applied for permits to export armaments to Ethiopia and he believed there had been no smuggling in that direction. The spokesman added that neither the Foreign Office nor the public were well informed concerning the temper of the present Italo-Ethiopian negotiations.

Japan had not received Mr. Cordell Hull's formal communication regarding the Kellogg Pact, though Japan was interested in knowing whether this was merely a warning to Signor Mussolini or whether it indicated some concrete plan which would be revealed later.—United Press.

PROBE DEATH OF ACTRESS

OIL MAGNATE'S SON FREED

Westchester, Sept. 13.
Henry Huddleston Rogers, son of the late Oil King, and his friend, William J. Kelly have been released on a surety of $2,500 each. They were held for enquiry in connection with the death of Miss Evelyn Hoy, who was found shot dead in a bedroom in Rogers' home, after a party.

The two men have been ordered to leave the State of Pennsylvania and to attend the inquest on Miss Hoy on Thursday next. Officials explain that no charges have been made against either of the men.

The police incline to the suicide theory. The doctor who performed the autopsy has declared that every evidence points to suicide, but Miss Hoy's parents and friends refuse to accept the suicide idea.—Reuter.

COMPLETE LIST OF PRIZE-WINNERS

REMARKABLE STANDARD IN RECORD ENTRY

A record entry of no fewer than 1,684 pictures was reached in the 1935 Amateur Photographic Competition organised by The Hongkong Telegraph, the results of which we have pleasure in announcing to-day. The figure exceeds the previous record, set last year, by more than 500 entries.

The judging, which was kindly undertaken by Mr. E. A. von Kobza-Nagy, Dr. H. F. Bunje and Surgeon Lieut.-Commr. W. E. Loftus-Brigham, occupied over seven hours, proving to be no easy task, in view of the huge number of entries and the high standard of merit attained.

In commenting on the Competition as a whole, the Judges stated that it was astounding that the standard of the entries could have improved so much in five years, the progress shown being far greater than could be expected. It was particularly noticed that many of the exhibitors had done the whole of the work themselves—a most gratifying feature. The percentage of pictures discarded was unusually small. Another interesting aspect was the diversity of paper surfaces and grades, a wider range than usually encountered in such competitions. The Judges were surprised that there were not more entries from the Navy, as the field of subjects at the disposal of the Senior Service is so wide, covering the Far East generally.

STEAMER CRASHES PRAYA

DOUGLAS VESSEL DAMAGED

TWO MISHAPS IN MORNING

Two accidents involving the same ship occurred on the harbour in rapid succession this morning. At approximately 9.15 the Douglas steamer Seistan coming up the Harbour from Kowloon Docks, where she had been repainted, turned to berth at the Douglas Wharf just west of Blake Pier.

The ship appeared to have had too great a way on her and with considerable force struck the granite wall of the pier.

There was an instantaneous rush of pedestrians and there was soon a large crowd where the ship had struck the wharf. Verandas of the buildings on the Bund, were packed.

When the ship moved away it was seen that her bows, just at the water line, were badly broken and water from the fore-hold tank was washing up. The ship just having come from dock was practically empty and the damage was apparently not so serious as to cause alarm for her actual safety.

Captain Creer without delay backed his ship out into the stream again, apparently intending to return to Kowloon Docks.

MUCH EXCITEMENT

About 200 yards from the shore, members of the crew on the stern of the ship began shouting at a junk making down the harbour towards Lyceum and crossing the path of the steamer.

There was considerable excitement on the Seistan, the junk, and the 9.30 Star ferry from Kowloon which was just passing the spot. After a half minute of suspense it appeared that the two ships would just miss each other but unfortunately the sail of the junk caught in the ladder slung on the side of the steamer, and the top of the mast snapping off, fell to the deck and knocked two members of the crew of the junk into the sea. Ropes and life-belts thrown from the ship to those in the water, one of whom appeared to be a woman, and they were pulled on board.

After a delay of some ten minutes during which time water continued to flow from the buckled bows of the Seistan, the Douglas steamer continued on her way down the harbour.

The Seistan, a steel steamer of over 2,000 tons, was due to sail for Swatow at 4 p.m. to-morrow.

U.S. Isle Of Polygamy In Desert

MEN WITH SEVERAL WIVES FLEEING FROM UTAH

ENTIRE families of certain "outlaw sects" of the Mormon Church are reported to be fleeing from "Arizona Strip," a remote desert area near the border of Utah, fearing prosecution by the Arizona State authorities for the alleged open practice of polygamy. The area in which these Mormons are said to have adopted polygamy is far from railways. There are no main roads and no telephones.

The inhabitants' secret might never have been discovered but for the arrival of Federal relief workers.

Arizona officials then began an inquiry, and are said to have found (United Press states) that several men had anything from two to five wives each with whom they were living openly. Three women who gave birth to children in one week all claimed the same man as the father of the babies.

The Mormons—the "Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints"—fleeing from persecution, came to Utah in 1847 and founded Salt Lake City. In 1852, however, polygamy was rejected, being legally abolished when Utah became a State in 1896.

75,000 Miles On Skates To Win Big Prize

HE CANNOT SLEEP ON A BED.

Montreal, Sept. 1.

An American, a Canadian and an Englishman are the sole survivors of a strange competition.

Really, it is not a competition, for they have agreed to share the proceeds when they eventually win them.

In 1928 some 632 people entered a competition for a £14,000 prize offered jointly by the Rockefeller Foundation and the Mayo Institute, the object of which was to discover the physical reactions of human beings to various foods under different living conditions.

Since that day six of the competitors have been killed, 73 have died, and all but three have violated the rules in some way.

Liquid Food

The American entrant is Frank Fielding of Minnesota, who since 1928 has covered 75,600 miles on roller and ice skates, skis and a bicycle.

The rules won't allow him to sleep on anything softer than a chair or table, stipulate that he must cover 80 miles a day, and must do all this on a liquid food diet!

Myrna Loy Rebels Against "Low" Pay

MYRNA LOY... wants more pay.

New York, Sept. 1. MYRNA LOY, the film star who quarrelled with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer because she thought her weekly salary of £300 insufficient, has signed with the producers Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur.

She will appear in a picture called "Soak the Rich." Production will start in a few days at the Paramount Studios on Long Island.

Miss Loy declared that her connection with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer was "finished." She did not comment on the possibility of that company trying to force her to adhere to their contract.

Leaders of Revolt

Myrna Loy and Messrs. Hecht and MacArthur are now regarded as leaders of a revolt against Hollywood producers. Hecht and MacArthur, former Chicago newspaper reporters, came to New York after a year in Hollywood, during which they quarrelled with producers and began writing and making their own films.

Mr. Nicholas Schenck, president of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, revealed on Wednesday night that Myrna Loy was refusing to go back to Hollywood from New York until her salary was doubled.

CHARITY GIFTS TO EVADE TAXES

Washington, Sept. 1.

Mr. John D. Rockefeller, Jun., has given away
$15,000,000 since November.

A report of the Federal Securities and Exchange Commission which discloses this to-day says that practically the whole of the amount has gone in gifts to educational and

Clipper To Fly As Far As Guam

FURTHER SURVEY
FLIGHTS THIS WEEK-END

The Pan American Clipper,
it was announced to-day, will start its next trans-Pacific survey trip this week-end and will probably proceed only as far as Guam.

Captain R. O. D. Sullivan, the commander of the 19-ton Pan American Airways flying boat on last month's round trip to Wake,
had said the Clipper this time might go on to Manila.

The Clipper will carry mail on the forthcoming trip, as it did on two earlier flights to Honolulu.
On the way to Guam, there will be stops at the intermediate trans-
Pacific bases at Honolulu, Midway and Wake.

Reaching Guam, the Clipper will have flown most of the way across the Pacific, as Manila is less than 2,000 miles further west and China only some 700 land miles beyond Manila.

Pan American Airways bases already have been established at Honolulu, Midway, Wake and Guam, ready for the regular weekly service that is expected to start shortly, and temporary facilities are in preparation at Manila.

BRITAIN NOW HAS 150 NUDIST CAMPS

SUN AND AIR CLUBS ARE THRIVING

London, Aug. 28.
There are now 150 nudist clubs in Britain—120 of them in England. The membership of the National Sun and Air Association
—it is now 1,500, mostly men—has been nearly trebled since last September.

"Our association is the biggest of its kind," Mr. Hugh Shaylor,
the chairman, declared this week,
"but there are several other associations."

"I should say about 5,000 people in England are members of recognised nudist societies and associations. Many more do not belong to societies, but have their own informal groups."

As long as the camps are properly conducted, nudists have nothing to fear from the police.

"The chief interest of the police," Mr. Shaylor went on, "is to see that nobody interferes.
Many policemen, in fact, belong to camps."

"We have every possible kind of person—Members of Parliament, local officials, doctors, even clergymen. The camps are conducted on the most democratic lines."

"Health and efficiency are our aim, and our object is to provide healthy exercise and games."
"Where a crowd of people are playing games together the question of sex scarcely obtrudes itself."

The Association puts people who wish to join a camp in touch with their own local members.

GREAT BRITAIN LIBELLED

Why History Book Was Altered

Mr. Ramsay MacDonald described last month how a libel on Great Britain was removed from an official history text-book in a foreign country when a protest was made to the Government of that country.

He told the story at a welcome given at Guildhall to students attending the City of London Vacan-tion Course.

"A relative of mine," said Mr.
MacDonald, "was, a short time ago, engaged in examining official history text-books of the world."
"Among them all there were only three which, she said, were thoroughly objectionable. In one of the three was a statement like this:
'Thousands of children under 10 are killed every year in the coal mines of Great Britain.'"

"Well, I am very happy to say that, as soon as that was found,
there was a representation made to the Government of that country, and, if you buy that book now, you will not find that statement in it."

To teach biased, propagandist history was to damage everything that should be cherished, said Mr.
MacDonald.

There were many people who were frightfully shocked if a Scottish child was brought up to glory
in the Battle of Bannockburn.
"I did, and I do, and I am not ashamed of it," he added. "It is a very bad thing for any child to be brought up on a history which does not appeal to his sense of the heroic and the romantic."

Mr. MacDonald added that, but for influences which were not of his seeking, he might have been among the teachers in the audience. "It is always pleasant to remember,"
he said, "that I might have been a domino myself."

LETTER FROM A MAN OF 90

About His Rheumatism

He asks us to excuse his writing.
We do more than that—we congratulate him on being able to write at all at his age, especially as he has been suffering from rheumatism.
This is what he says in his letter:—

"Three years ago I was in bed for six weeks with inflammatory rheumatism. Since that time I have been taking Kruschen Salts, and have not had another attack. But my hands are still somewhat stiff. I take Kruschen every morning before breakfast, and shall continue to do so, because I am sure it has kept me in good shape for three years. Excuse this writing, as I am ninety years old,
and use both hands to write."—J. R. G.

Kruschen dissolves away those needle-pointed crystals of uric acid which are the cause of all rheumatic crises. It will also flush these dissolved crystals clean out of the system. Then if you keep up "the little daily dose," excess uric acid will never form again.

SYNTHETIC RUBBER

GERMANY STILL IN THE EXPERIMENTAL STAGE

Berlin, Sept. 13.
Concerning the statement about synthetic rubber the Ministry of Economics states that experiments in artificial rubber were carried out for some months and justify the hope of final success, but the experiments have not yet been concluded. Several laboratories are engaged therein, and various kinds of synthetic rubber have been produced.

Whether the final product is among them cannot yet be said.
As long as a product that is not absolutely suitable for commercial purposes has not been produced,
mass production cannot be started.
—Reuter.

Rubber Restriction

London, Sept. 13.
Disappointment with the Rubber Restriction scheme was expressed by Sir Francis Vokes at yesterday's meeting of the Kuala Muda Rubber Estate, when he emphasised regret that the working of the scheme had not operated as quickly as expected, and the dual purpose for which it was formed had not materialised.
He was, nevertheless, convinced of the beneficiality of the scheme to the industry as a whole, and the ultimate realisation of its objective.

Commenting on Lowmings' belief that world stocks would be reduced by some 200,000 tons by next July,
Sir Francis stated that the realisation of that prediction would once more put the whole industry on a most favourable basis and fully justify their faith in the regulation scheme.
—Reuter.

Batavia Duty

Batavia, Sept. 13.

The People's Council passed the Estate Rubber Duty by 39 to 6 votes with an amendment that the duty shall only operate when the price reaches 18 cents per half kilogramme.—Reuter.

LAVAL'S SPEECH

CANNOT FAIL IN OBLIGATIONS

Geneva, Sept. 13. The Assembly was packed and tense excitement prevailed as the film drew near for M. Laval's speech.

The French Premier was seen to be chatting animatedly with Sir Samuel Hoare, and a great outburst of applause greeted him as he mounted the rostrum.

In opening his speech M. Laval said that every body had to take responsibility in the present situation and, "I do so on behalf of France. I repeat our faith in the Covenant of the League of Nations, and say that we cannot fail in our obligations."

"From the Protocol of 1924 to the Disarmament Conference of 1932, France had steadfastly pursued her doctrine of collective security. How can we let it die? All reason and justice would be against it."

"All our international agreements are based on Geneva, and any damage done to Geneva would damage our security."

M. Laval alluded to Sir Samuel Hoare's speech as representing a high level of thought, full of the liberal traditions of England. "Sir Samuel Hoare showed the British determination to stand by the League, and no power treated the words more warmly than France, and no one knows better their value."

M. Laval described Sir Samuel Hoare's speech as an historic date in the annals of the League and, "we rejoice in the close co-operation with Britain in the defence of peace and the safeguarding of Europe."

Italy's Friend Also

M. Laval recalled that the Franco-Italian Agreement earlier in the year, "definitely excluded all that might divide us. We are ready to persevere with that co-operation for the realisation of peace. In the present supreme effort of the Council of the League to find a solution I am determined to fulfil my duty as a member of the League and a friend of Italy. Everything will be done to satisfy the legitimate requirements of Italy. Having regard to the rights of the members of the League no disagreement exists between Britain and France in the search for a peaceful settlement."

"In the past year we successfully surmounted difficult problems like the rendition of the Saar, and the dispute between Hungary and Jugoslavia, and we shall again try to achieve the same success. Our obligations are in the Covenant and we shall not withdraw from them."

At the conclusion there was prolonged applause, and Sir Samuel Hoare jumped up and warmly shook M. Laval by the hand.

India's Voice

M. Litvinoff was expected to speak, but removed his name from the list.

After M. Laval's speech Sir Samuel Hoare left for London.

The discussion was continued by the Aga Khan who declared that Indian criticism of the League was growing owing to the League's lack of universality. India had a small representation compared with her large contribution.

India was troubled by the League's dramatic failures; by the unfruitful Disarmament Conference, and the war, declared and undeclared, which have been between its members.

Now a fresh trouble, greater than any of these had arisen.

The League's ideal of collective security was the only alternative to international anarchy.

"The world is at the parting of the ways, and let wisdom guard her choice."

South-Africa's Anxiety

Mr. Te Water voiced the deep anxieties of South Africa, and declared that a partition of Africa outside the covering blanket of the League was fraught with danger and menace.

They were facing the possible destruction of one of the last surviving sovereignties of Africa, and if that crime were permitted and Africa were conscripted by Europe for its own purposes and designs, armed Africa will in due and patient time arise and overthrow it, as in the past, and re-throw it to the black barbarism, which it has been their difficult destiny in the South to penetrate and enlighten.—Reuter.

Geneva Pleased

Geneva, Sept. 13. As a definite pledge that France intends living up to her full League obligations, and in its complete alignment with British policy, M. Laval's speech is welcomed here, especially in British quarters.—Reuter.

Italian Reaction

Rome, Sept. 13. "M. Laval's speech is neither favourable nor unfavourable towards Italy," Reuter was informed in authoritative quarters. "We quite understand M. Laval's position and his necessity for expressing whole-hearted support for the League. Nevertheless the speech will not in any way affect Italy's plan. We shall go forward as before. Meanwhile we are awaiting with interest any proposals emanating from the Sub-Committee."

The speech caused disappointment with regard to public opinion

STRIKE BROKEN

NON-UNION RADIO OPERATORS EMPLOYED AT NEW YORK

New York, Sept. 13. All of the 11 ships which were held up yesterday by a lightning strike of the wireless operators got away today by engaging non-union operators to enable them to sail.—Reuter.

Yesterday's message by Reuter stated that the wireless operators on 11 ships including the American Seacole line's ship Seagull, which were due to sail for Europe to-day, struck work a few hours before the time for departure.

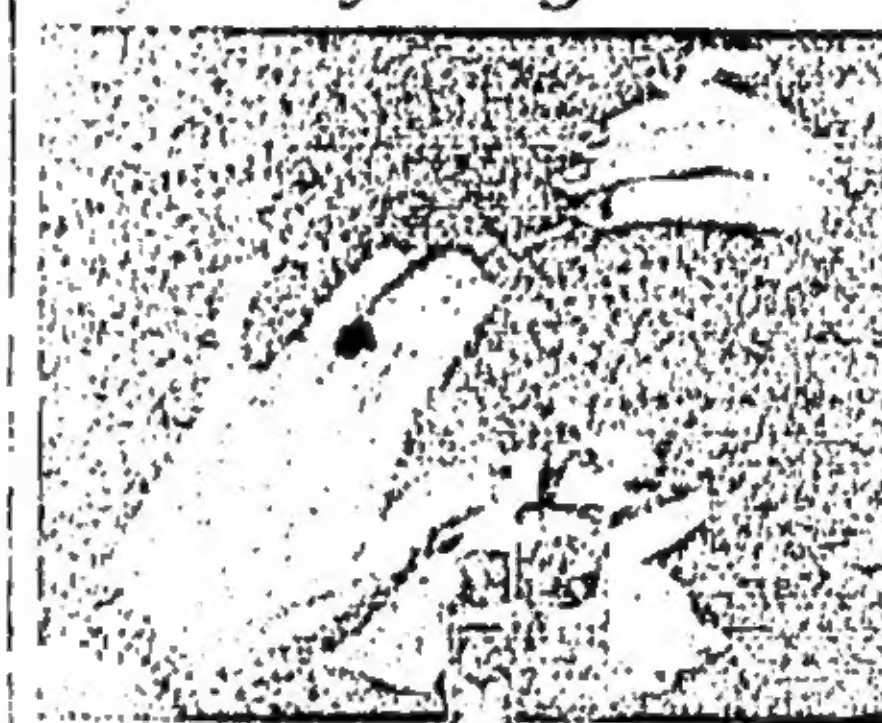

All the ships except one being passenger vessels could not legally sail without wireless operators.

Strike leaders tried to hold up all American vessels, refusing to sign agreements with the American Radio Telegraphers' Association. The strike followed the failure of operators to obtain recognition of their Union, higher wages and better conditions, by negotiations with the American Steamship Owners' Association.

generally as it was expected that M. Laval would be more sympathetic towards Italy's claim.

It is revealing no secret to say that Italian public opinion is growing nervous about the situation during the last few days.—Reuter.

HONGKONG-PENANG

LINK OF IMPERIAL AIRWAYS
TO BE TRIED

London, Sept. 13. Imperial Airways will commence a series of six experimental flights from Penang to Hongkong on October 2, with a view to the eventual linking up of Hongkong to the Imperial air route.

The first two flights will be for survey only and the other four to operate a day and a half schedule each way.

The route involves two long sea crossings of 400 miles from Penang to Saigon, and 600 from Tourane to Hongkong.

The first service flight will leave Penang at midday on October 24 and will be due at Hongkong in the evening of October 25. The return flight will commence on October 29; these experimental services will not carry mails or passengers.

The flights will be undertaken by the four-engined Diana liner, which leaves Croydon for the East on September 16. The crew of four will consist of a captain, first officer, engineer and wireless operator.

Reuter learns that former difficulties of flying over French territory have been satisfactorily settled, but negotiations for extending the service into China are still apparently blocked by political objections of the Chinese.—Reuter.

OFFICIAL FINANCES

MEMORANDUM ON ESTIMATES

In his memorandum on the Government's financial position, tabled in connection with the Estimates on Thursday, the Hon. Treasurer reviewed the past and present years as follows:

1934

The Revenue for the year amounted to $29,674,286 as against the original estimate of $31,731,025 and the revised estimate of $29,670,034. The actual revenue for the year fell short of the estimate by $2,056,739 and of the revised estimate by $96,248.

The Import Duty on both Motor Spirit and Tobacco exceeded the approved estimate by $30,544 and $163,831 respectively. On the other hand the duty on Liquor and Locally Manufactured Liquor showed decreases of $80,828 and $36,327.

The Opium Monopoly which was expected to yield $1,300,000 showed the largest decrease and was short of the estimate by $644,932 due to a further reduction in sales. The next largest decrease was under Land Sales which were $641,527 less than the estimate of $1,200,000, the demand for land having fallen off considerably.

The continued trade depression is responsible for the decrease of $282,583 under Stamp Duties, while the temporary rebate on excess water bills accounts for the estimate under Water, Excess Supply and Meter Rents being down by $116,899.

Betting Duty was short of the estimate by $113,246 due to the reduction in the percentage payable on pari-mutuel betting and to less betting. Postages showed a decrease of $111,625 due in part to a reduction in rates. Other important items showing decreases were Light Dues $103,462 on account of the higher exchange, and Assessed Taxes (Rating) $90,771 attributed to more vacant tenements and reductions in rents.

The increases include Estate Duty which exceeded the estimate by $77,717 on account of two large estates, Railway (Auxiliary Operations, Foreign Lineage) $70,330 due to an increase in number of trains, and Leased Lands $74,754.

Expenditure

The expenditure for the year amounted to $31,149,156 against an estimate of $28,442,095, a decrease of $2,707,061. Exchange was based on $1=1s/3d, but the average rate throughout the year was 1s/6d, consequently considerable under-expenditure took place on such items as salaries, pensions, loan charges and stores. The under-expenditure on personal emoluments, which amounted to $1,742,652, Council approved of a supplementary budget increasing votes under the control of the Director of Public Works by $772,000.

Five heads of expenditure were exceeded during the year: No. 18, Magistracy, Hongkong, by $6,704; No. 19, Magistracy, Kowloon, by $4,139.

These increases were due to changes in personnel. No. 27 (C), Military Contribution, by $93,987.

The increase was due to the estimated overpayment on account of 1933 revenue assessable for military contribution being calculated at $483,346 but the final figures for 1933 amounted to $389,359.

No. 28, Miscellaneous Services, by $492,384, of which $413,118 was due to depreciation of Sterling Funds due to higher dollar sterling exchange.

No. 34, Public Works Extraordinary, by $192,216. The gross increase on sub-heads amounted to $1,052,190 offset by under-expenditure on other sub-heads of $859,980 resulting in the net increase recorded above.

The final figures were Revenue $29,674,286, Expenditure $31,149,156, Deficit $1,474,870, which deducted from the surplus brought forward on 1st January, 1934, gives a total excess of Assets over Liabilities on 31st December, 1934, of $12,248,755.

The Inscribed Stock Loans of 1893 and 1906 amounting to $1,485,733 were redeemed on 15th October. The sinking fund for the 4% Conversion Loan raised in 1933 was established on 15th July and amounted at 31st December to $12,311,28, 1d.

In July, 1934, a 3½% Dollar Loan was raised to finance certain public works and to redeem a portion of the sterling Inscribed Stock. Bonds to the amount of $14,000,000 were issued at 99½ producing $13,860,000.

The Revenue for the year was estimated at $30,585,650, a decrease of $1,115,975 compared with the approved estimate of 1934. The revised estimate for the year is now placed at $28,328,034 or $2,257,616 less than the approved estimate. The total revenue for the half year ending 30th June amounted to $14,428,817. This is $863,978 less than one half of the estimate of $30,585,650 for the whole year.

The principal sources of revenue are shown in the following tables:

	Estimate 1935	Total 1st Half Year
Import Duty on Liquor	958,000	287,159
Import Duty on Tobacco	2,760,000	1,208,074
Duty on Locally Manufactured Liquor	1,070,000	494,233
Port and Harbour Dues	610,000	264,164
Ferries	406,000	203,198
Liquor Licences	390,000	183,308
Opium Monopoly	650,000	201,619
Assessed Taxes (Rating)	6,200,000	3,160,753
Estate Duty	1,000,000	524,162
Stamp Duties	2,100,000	971,022
Water Excess and Meter Rents	1,800,000	976,648
Message Fees (Wireless)	630,000	324,286
Postage	1,220,000	568,093
Kowloon Canton Railway	1,092,000	736,639
Rest of Government Property	1,683,000	770,070
Land Sales	600,000	174,878

It will be seen that the duty on tobacco has almost been maintained, but there may be a further drop during the second half of the year owing to the higher rate of exchange prevailing. Import duty on liquor shows a large falling off and is disappoint-

BOOSTING HONGKONG

Those who had hoped to see strong public support for the movement to attract more tourists and other travellers to Hongkong must be disappointed at the response so far accorded to the appeal issued by the newly-formed Travel Association. The Government has already made a grant of $25,000 to the fund, in the hope that its contribution would be met dollar for dollar. Actually, however, the Travel Association appeal has so far brought in less than ten thousand dollars. It was the original intention of the Government to make an annual grant of $25,000 for a period of three years, but in the coming year's estimates this has been cut down, on the suggestion of the Secretary of State, to $15,000. The Government is, however, prepared to sanction a supplementary vote if the public response justifies such a course. Quite rightly, the Government holds that this is clearly a case where, in the absence of adequate support from the interests which will benefit, it would not be justifiable to extend large sums from the public funds, and when the scheme is further advanced it is the intention of the authorities to make its contribution on a dollar-for-dollar basis. It must be apparent that the new Association will be unable to function as it should do without adequate funds. The sum so far received is altogether insufficient for the plans which the Association has in view in launching its work; at least an amount equivalent to that already granted by the Government is needed for this purpose. Whilst the Association has met with very few refusals to help, we understand that at least in one or two cases well-established firms have not subscribed, holding that the movement will be of no benefit to them. This, however, is a short-sighted policy, since the work which the Association undertakes will be of general benefit to the whole Colony. For this reason, it is to be hoped that Chinese interests will not ignore

NOTES OF THE DAY

PREPARING FOR PROGRESS

Hongkong's budget contains no provision for expenditure with respect to aviation, commercial or otherwise, this year, but it is pointed out that should any air service be commenced next year the Council "will be asked to vote whatever sum is considered justified." The obvious interpretation is that the Government is prepared to encourage in so far as it is able any commercial air venture which wishes to place Hongkong upon its itinerary. The Government is apparently ready to assist, possibly by subsidy, certainly by developing among the necessary lines the existing facilities for aircraft landing and fueling and all the complementary requisites of that department of the port's trade. It is a department which cannot be over-estimated in importance, and for Hongkong's Government to indicate its readiness to support commercial aviation here to its best ability, is gratifying to those of us who have long advocated such a policy. It is a matter for congratulation, too, that the Colony is to have an Aviation Meteorological Service. This comes about at the urgent request of the Air Ministry.

We are told, and Mr. Jeffries, Director of the Royal Observatory, at present on leave in England, has been instructed to discuss the matter with the Director of the Meteorological Office of the Air Ministry and with the Astronomer Royal. Plans are already afoot for the procuring of the necessary additional equipment for the Royal Observatory here whose service, for the benefit of shipping in the past, is now to be extended into another sphere.

A DESPAIRING CRY

Mr. George Lansbury makes a moving appeal to all nations. Seeing the world drifting to war, in which religion, morals, and civilisation will crash to utter ruin, he implores that the voice of Christendom and all religions should be heard, so that this appalling catastrophe may be averted. He would have the Archbishops and the Pope summon a solemn convocation representative of every phase of Christian and other religious thought, to meet in the Holy Land at Jerusalem, and from Mount Calvary "call a Truce of God" and bid the war spirit rest. The appeal does credit to Mr. Lansbury's heart, but it is to be feared it will be met with only a cynical shrug. Politicians who call themselves realists have no use for sentiment, religious or other, and they place more trust in their chicaneries—though these have brought the world into a frightful mess—than in all the peaceful convocations that were ever gathered together. And, in sorrowful truth, who are the nations that might respond to the call? Would nations which are drunk with the spirit of military glory or "godless" Russia? There are other doubts, enough to prove the amiable fallacy of Mr. Lansbury's appeal. Nevertheless he is right. The Great War was scarcely launched when men began to realise that the only hope for the world was a "change of heart." That conviction became stronger as the conflict went on. It has never been lost sight of since the war. But it is still a voice crying in the wilderness and it may be that the world will have to go through another period of bitter experience before it learns its lesson.

The claims of the Association, whilst retail firms of varying kinds will obviously stand to gain from a movement which will bring more money into the Colony. It has long been a matter for surprise amongst visitors to Hongkong that the Colony does nothing to boost its manifold attractions. That reproach, quite justified, can be removed if the Association receives adequate support. It is up to the public to see that such support is forthcoming. The more the public gives, the greater will be the Government grant, with the assurance of enlargement of the activities of the Travel Association.

MAN'S QUEST FOR HAPPINESS

BY PAMELA FRANKAU

THE blue bird, you will remember, was found, after long search, to be sitting at home in a cage.

Most allegorical reflections upon happiness come to this kind of conclusion. Their moral is pointed less by the certainty that happiness is to be found than by the certainty that it is not to be sought; a dictum which should have little effect upon the human race.

The human race does not conduct its life deliberately towards content. A man may set his mind on money-making, on creative fulfillment, on adventure. He does not cry consciously: "I want to be happy." For one very good reason. That the plain mood of happiness is only recognisable when deeply felt or deeply missed.

The word, applied personally, has therefore a transient quality. Its general implication, however, is anything but transient.

Fairy stories end with the words "They all lived happily ever after." Brides and bridegrooms are wished "everlasting happiness." Purported messages from what is called "The Other Side" speak with one voice: "I am very, very happy."

From our earliest youth we are accustomed to hear of happiness as an enduring state; in our own minds we have the tendency to relegate this state either to the past or to the future.

It has been said that sorrows remain longer than joys in the memory. This is only true of the major moments. When we look back upon our childhood, we forget the small discomforts and anxieties; we see an existence which, being free from the worries that beset our adult life, has a look of great serenity.

"All" we may say, "I was happy then." And when we look forward, beyond the troubles of this moment, "revisiting a world where all present afflictions have ended, we again sight serenity. "Never mind," we may comfort ourselves, "then I shall be happy."

This is sentimental reasoning. In the first place, we have not defined happiness. The outmoded Herbert Spencer said that it existed in adequate exercise for the faculties.

Here I would venture to contradict him. Adequate exercise for all the faculties would involve a life free from every care. Able to work according to one's capabilities, able to love as freely and deeply as one's heart dictated, able to help in every way people for whom one felt affection, able to live among the physical necessities of one's being, one would be doing exactly as one liked for twenty-four hours out of the twenty-four.

And that would be Utopia. Philosophers have no business with Utopia. Nor, at the moment, have I. I contend that happiness can be won in an ordinary world, in an ordinary income. These three provisions admit all the worries that the human is heir. They preclude no disaster.

I would say that enduring happiness is an inner peace of mind, a mental and spiritual stability, unobscured by the outside ills.

Though I do not wish to discuss religion here, I must in honesty express a doubt whether any complete atheist can have access to this state. There are, however, few complete atheists.

Having made my attempt at definition I can hear the challenge that demands my recipe for reaching it. "Oh yes?" this challenge asks with a usually derisive accent. "Inner Peace of Mind? Sounds grand. When you've got it you don't care if the house is on fire or you're going bankrupt or your children have just been run over by a lorry. Tell us more. How do you get that way?"

I think you get that way by living according to your lights. To do this you must first realise the person you are; your strengths and your weaknesses; you must see yourself without prejudice as a character; similarly, you must assemble the people, the work, the events, the surroundings that are nearest to you. And you must apply to yourself, as to this landscape of your life, a severe and personal sense of proportion.

You will see that in an ordinary lifetime there is far too much life and far too little time. You will know that the heavens are not going to open and drop gold upon you; that ships do not come in; that luck is a rare visitor, success a rarer; that fulfilled love between man and woman is perhaps the rarest of the three.

You will see that the average person is bound to waste a great deal of time; though he will live and breathe every second, he cannot turn every breath to good account. You will see that the handicaps of youth give place to the open handicaps of the adult, which in their turn become the last handicaps of age.

You cannot expect to travel the whole round world, to rise to the top of your profession, to experience absolute love, to lead a life of Christian charity and goodness, to adventure when adventure offers itself, to earn and spend great riches, to raise children, to know the benefits of a comfortable home, to feel at every hour the deep ecstasy of religious conviction—in a life of seventy years. I doubt that you could do so much in seven hundred. You are just not going to have the time. Nobody has.

Further, you will find remarkably little profit in planning your existence ahead. Free-will brings destiny in its track. The person you are determines the events befalling that person. Now for your sense of proportion. It will enable you to look hard and clearly at yourself and your life; to assemble all things in the order of their importance.

You will always find one thing of supreme importance. For that thing you must sacrifice all the other things, just so long as it remains the biggest. Perhaps, within a short time, it will have ceased to hold much significance for you. Even then you will remember clearly that it was of great stature and that your fidelity to it brought its own fulfillment.

This, I am certain, is the only way to live. To cultivate the eye that sees what the minor things are, and to whittle them away from every moment. To throw off the small encumbrances of the soul and give space to the supreme factor. Only by this means can you be free from the regret that sees a missed opportunity in the light of present wisdom, forgetting to weigh past cause and effect.

You will never be able to say, "I did everything; that was right." You will be able to say, "I did the thing that was right for me at the time." And if you can say this truly, you will have known for a long while the inner peace of mind that is enduring happiness.

BULLS AND INNERS

From the Office Butts

There is no truth in the rumour that Hongkong Rotarians propose to send a number of their bright young lads to Australia on a return goodwill visit.

One thing we now know about the Australian flannel dower; they don't make dresses from it!

The great "Australian crawl" was demonstrated at the moonlight picnic. We understand that the best way to do this is to go down under.

During the week the Australian national call "Coo-ee" was heard on the Peak. We understand that the Peak Residents Association has not yet recovered from the shock.

Excess water consumption rates are being reduced. This will doubtless cause a drop in the revenue.

An unlicensed hawk summoned this week was alleged to be a squatter. A more appropriate name for him would be "squawker!"

We hear that it was hoped to persuade one of our recent Australian visitors to broadcast her impressions of the Colony from Z.B.W. Unfortunately, an interpreter could not be discovered in time.

Australians are said to be modest. We now think "modiste" is the word.

Golfers will soon be getting out their gardening tools again.

Although the Colony has so far missed a typhoon this year, quite a number of people have felt the draught!

At a local auction the other day, six Peak ladies kept up spirited bidding for an old card-table. Mr. Lammer doubtless thought them vulnerable.

The Lido celebrated the full-moon with a special dance. The guests included many Row-lunars!

They call him "Typhoon"—because in moments of depression he's always liable to fill-up.

Said the Rotary man to the "Aussie": "I know a most exquisite 'posie'."

"Where the scenery's rare." But she answered "Oh Yeah." Was he snubbed? Well, I ask you; was he?

There is no truth in the rumour that the U.S. Supreme Court has ruled early morning walks unconstitutional.

An outbreak of influenza amongst chickens is reported from Oxfordshire. Probably merely an Oxford Group Movement!

Half an hour with the average Hongkong woman will tell you all she knows, says a local cynic. But not all she suspects.

We suppose when a gold-digger and an angler meet they tell each other about the big one that got away.

An apple may have caused the downfall of Adam, but nowadays peaches seem to be handling the business.

Then there was the young couple at the dental college who became engaged, on the principle that they would most likely pull together.

A sculptor says only one girl in five thousand is physically perfect. Must be the one we saw at Repulse Bay last week.

There is no truth in the rumour that the Government is arranging to transfer some of the rich, old aroma from the present Wanchai Market to the new building. In order that stallholders and customers may feel thoroughly at home.

Fred Perry has often shouted: "Love Thirty." Now it'll be a case of "Love one."

University professors have recently been figuring largely in talks on money. Their ideas, however, are naturally only theoretical.

"Well, that shows how we stand with them. The worst guest room in the house!"

WHEN, five years ago, The Hongkong Telegraph decided to institute an annual Amateur Photography Competition, little was it thought that it would attain the dimensions which it has now reached. The entries in the first year's Competition were, for the major part, composed of small-sized pictures, mostly snapshots, few possessing any claim to real artistic merit. The 1935 Exhibition tells its own story of the amazing advance registered both in the number of exhibits and the high standard of excellence reached—a standard which, at its best, compares favourably with that set by leading amateur competitions in any part of the world.

The Telegraph's object in starting the Competitions was to encourage amateur photography as a hobby and to provide a vehicle for the expression of art in one of its most interesting forms. This year's competition shows how well that object has been realised.

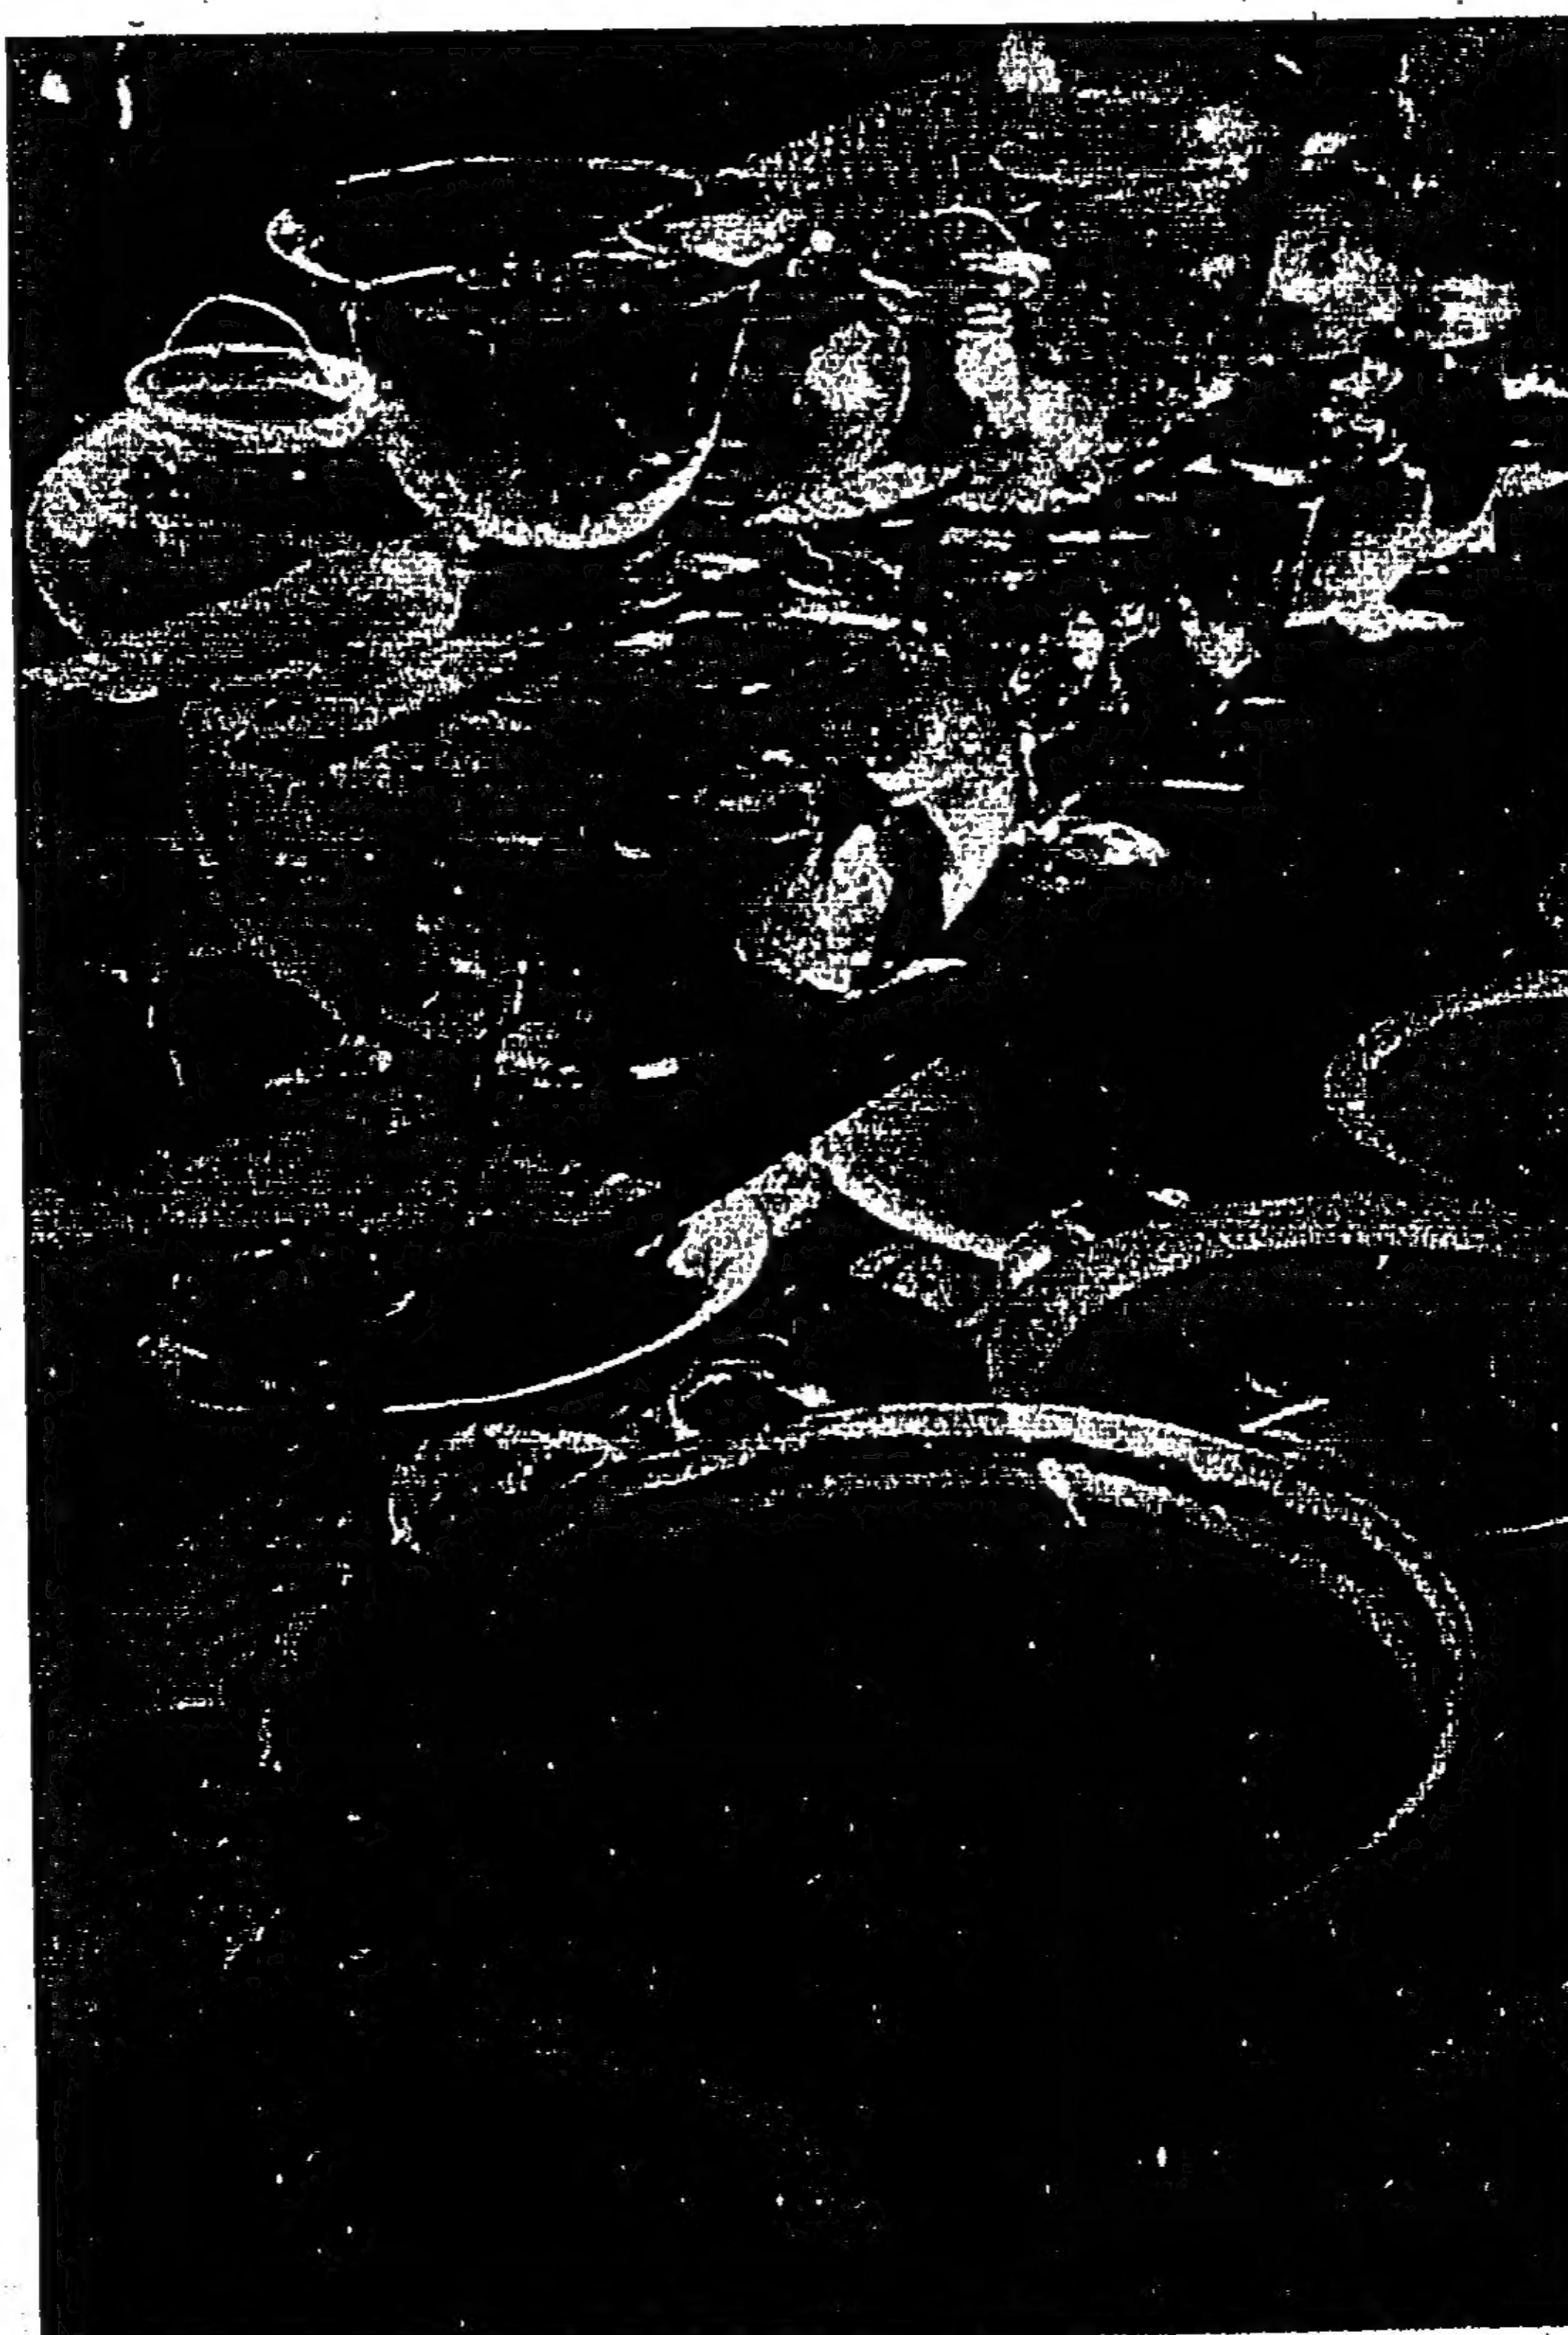

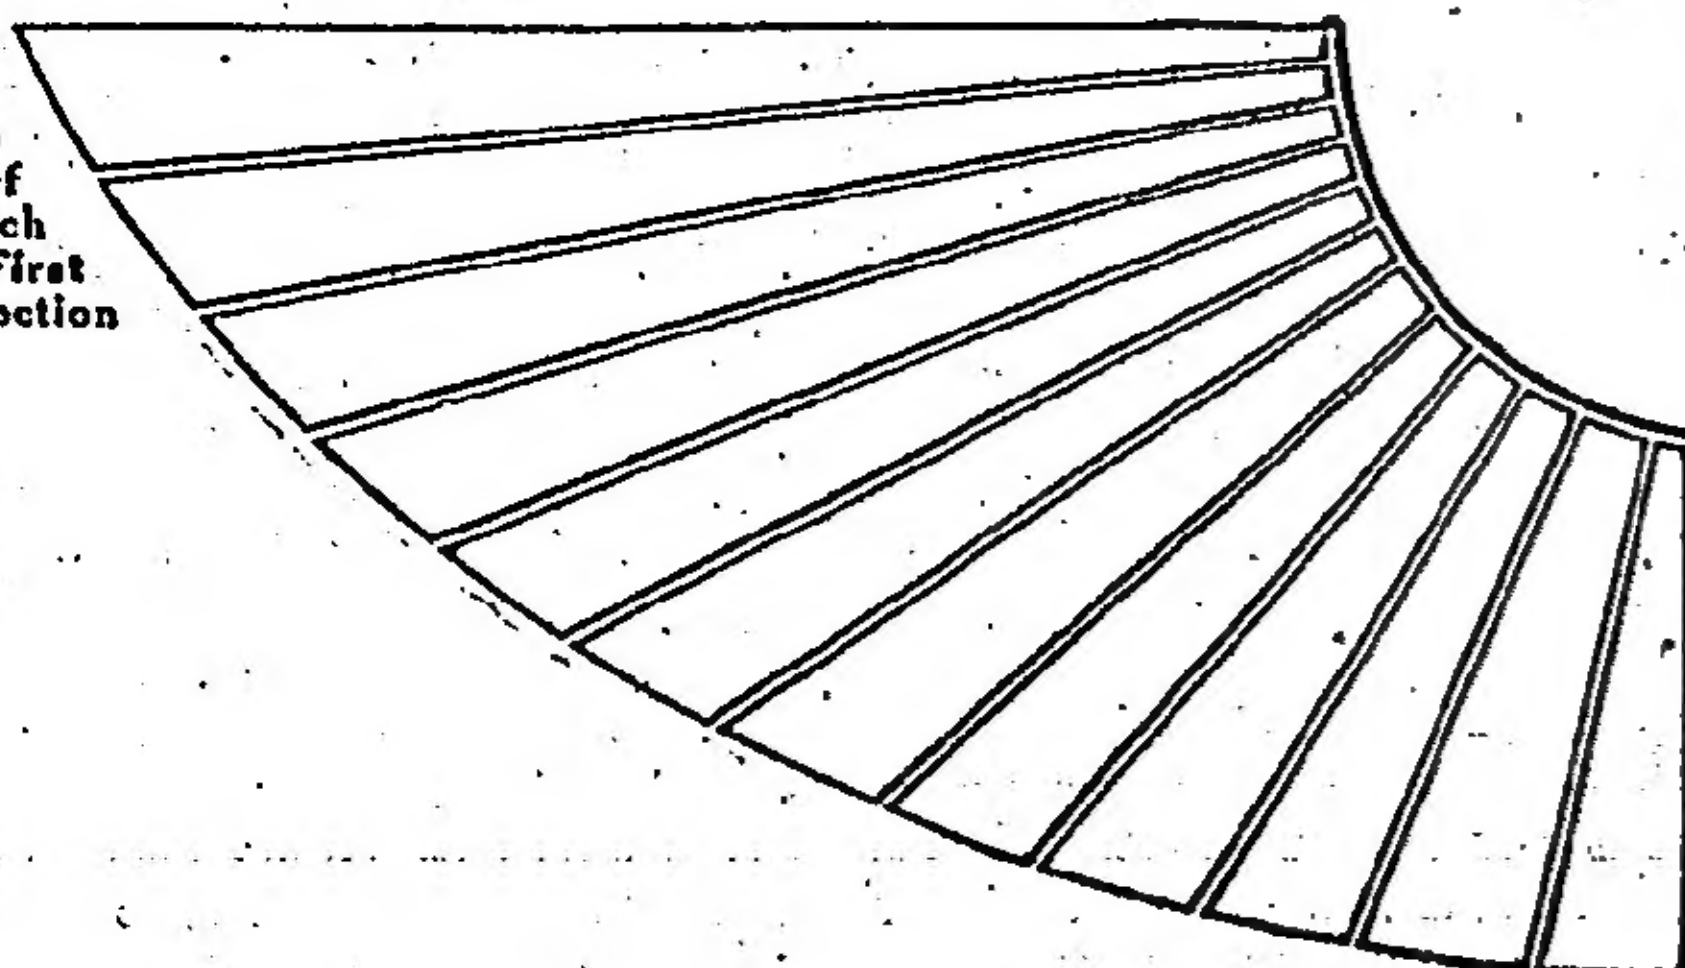

There are few places in the world which provide greater scope for the amateur photographer than Hongkong, with its wealth of scenic beauty and its teeming Oriental life, and it is especially gratifying that so many entries provide proof that competitors have not been slow to appreciate this point.

Hitherto, there have been no restrictions laid down either in regard to the locality of subjects or to the place of residence of competitors. It seems more than likely, however, that future competitions may have to be confined to Far Eastern subjects by Far Eastern residents, thus developing the Exhibition along the lines of a purely Oriental display. It may also be advisable to institute separate classes for advanced amateurs.

The thanks of The Hongkong Telegraph are due to the Judges—Mr. E. A. Von Kobza-Nagy, B.A., Dr. F. Bunje and Surgeon-Lieutenant W. E. Loftus-Brigham, R.N., for undertaking the arduous task of adjudicating on the entries; and to the donors of the splendid prizes offered.

JUDGES' COMMENTS

In adjudicating on the special prizes offered by Messrs. Ilford for the best and second best pictures in the Competition, the Judges were particularly impressed with Mr. George C. Lau's entry, "At Prayer," which they considered set a standard which would be a credit to any amateur in any part of the world—an example of a simple subject which had been given much thought and remarkably impressive treatment. This picture won the Ilford Trophy for the best entry in the Competition, irrespective of class, as well as the first prize in Section Three (Chinese Studies: Figures and Faces).

The Ilford Cup for the second best entry was awarded to Mr. Loong Pei-tak for a fine study, "Rustic Steps," which also won the first prize in Section Four. This the Judges regarded as a beautiful study, in which much time and work must have been

REBEL CRUISERS

INSPECTED BY MINISTER FOR THE NAVY

Nanking, Sept. 13. Admiral Chen Shao-kwan, the Minister for the Navy, accompanied by a party of high officials attached to the Ministry, inspected the two Cruisers Hai Sen and Hai Chi yesterday morning.

This was the first official inspection of the two cruisers by the Admiral since their arrival in Nanking.—Wah Kiu Yat Po.

Section One

Regarding Section One (Story-Telling Pictures), in which there were no fewer than 439 entries, the Judges were rather surprised that so few of the entries really told a story. Several of the pictures entered would have been greatly improved had unwanted matter been eliminated from the background. Commenting on Mr. Chu Wang-pi's exhibit which secured first prize, they stated that it was a very happy composition, noteworthy for good lighting, and high in technical merit. Two other studies entered by the same competitor also attracted much attention.

Section Two

There were 147 entries in Section Two (Bathing and Picnic Pictures). The Judges, commenting on the entries, stated that the first prize picture—"Surf Riders"—by Mr. H. H. Smith was a striking entry, which might be described as a real cocktail with the bubble of life as its main ingredient. The title, however, was poor. In view of the fact that Hongkong offers such fine opportunities for bathing pictures, and also in view of the good weather which prevails during the summer, the Judges were somewhat disappointed that the number of entries was not higher and that the standard was not so high as is encountered in bathing picture competitions in England, where the conditions are not nearly so favourable.

Section Three

In this section, in which there were 213 entries, the adjudication was noteworthy for the unanimity of the Judges. When notes were compared, it was found that the eleven entries finally selected had been noted in the final individual selection. In awarding the first prize to Mr. George C. Lau's entry, "At Prayer," the Judges stated that they considered it to be an outstanding picture of beautiful composition and masterly finish. In this section the models were generally excellent, but in many cases the effect was spoiled by the too obvious posing. An infinite amount of trouble must be taken with portrait groups as compared with snapshots taken at random. The Judges expressed surprise that so few studies in the nude were entered.

Section Four

This was easily the biggest section in the Competition, no fewer than 669 entries being received. The Judges were greatly impressed with the extremely high standard reached in this section. There was considerable diversity in the surfaces of paper used, in which connection the Judges emphasised that maximum results can be attained by adapting material to the picture. The first prize picture, by Mr. Loong Pei-tak, was described as a masterpiece, not only artistically, but technically as well. It was evident, said the Judges, that the competitor knew exactly what he was after and got it. It is a deep matt paper had been employed, an even more effective picture would have resulted.

Section Five

Mr. Lau Choo-chak, the winner of the first prize in Section Five, in which there were 129 entries, achieved a high standard of merit, while the other prize pictures revealed care and understanding in the treatment of simple and delicate subjects. The third prize by Mr. Henry Dejung was noteworthy for its simplicity, with the competitor having a remarkable eye to the position of the shadow. Entry No. 105, entitled "The Three Judges," caused the Judges considerable amusement on account of the faceless treatment. It was considered to be the Problem Picture of the Competition, although in this instance there was some uncertainty as to the solution of the problem.

Section Six

Although there were only 87 entries in Section Six (combined to pictures by children under the age of 14 years), the Judges were struck with the extremely high standard set, there being some surprisingly clever studies entered. The picture which won the first prize—"Gold Fish," by Ng Sui-ching—was voted by the Judges as being strong in artistic merit, excellent in composition, and the subject very well thought out.

STREET SLEEPERS

ANNUAL REPORT REVEALS GOOD WORK DONE

More good work is being done to provide shelters for poor and destitute Chinese, according to the second annual report of the Street Sleepers Shelter Society, just issued.

St. Peter's Church was used during the winter, and the inmates were given special prayer on festive occasions such as Christmas Day.

The report states, in part: Owing to the fact that during the year, 1934 to 1935 we had to refuse admission to numbers of men because of lack of accommodation we felt that it was imperative that we should open a second Shelter and after careful reference to the census kindly taken by the Police in March 1934, it was decided that the Society should endeavour to open another Shelter in the Upper Levels District, somewhere in the neighbourhood of Hollywood Road and Po Hing Fong, where it was found there were most Street Sleepers. It was not easy finding suitable accommodation in this area but we were fortunate eventually in being able to rent from the Tung Wah Hospital at $100 per month a three storied house in Po Yan Street—almost opposite the Tung Wah Hospital.

There was a full house and some had to be turned away.

Statistics

At the West Point Shelter, the total number of sleepers from December 1, 1934 to April 15, 1935 was 17,156. Analysis shows that 223 men used the Shelter, eight of these coming every night for the whole 136 nights. Eight men came for 135 nights; four for 134, 133 and 132 nights, two for 131 nights; three for 130 nights; 18 for two nights and 43 for one night.

At the Po Yan Shelter the total number of sleepers from December 1, 1934 to April 15, 1935 was 16,269. Analysis shows that 264 men used the Shelter, five of these coming every night for the whole 122 nights. Three men came for 120 and 118 nights.

The total number of registrations for both Shelters was therefore 33,425 and the total number of men who used the Shelters was 687.

A good proportion of the men were elderly and it was pleasing to see some of the same old men turn up on the opening night at West Point Shelter. One felt that they really did appreciate what was being done for them. A good number of "odd job" men came too—men who cannot find regular work but do any odd job that they can find. This means they feed themselves on the few cents they earn but have not enough to pay for a bed, so would otherwise sleep in the streets.

Thanks are expressed to many doctors and nurses, the St. John's Ambulance Brigade and Deep Sea Scouts for their services.

During the season 206 cases were sent to hospital and 1,663 were treated at the Shelters.

Cases Assisted

The Rev. Kee Kau-yan was again in charge of the spiritual side of the work. The Society helped and repatriated several destitute, chiefly through the S. C. A. and the Tung Wah Hospital. Some of the cases are cited below:

A farmer from Linchow, who had been pressed into the Army and escaped, was sent home.

A man from Tung Koon who came to find his son and discovered he had been killed in the Gas Explosion, was sent back.

A man from Falsan was unable to find his relatives and was sent home.

A boy of 15, who came from Shanghai in search of his father, was told of the Shelter by the people on the boat he travelled in. His father, he thought, was in the British Navy, so the Chaplain at

SERIOUS ALLEGATION

YOUNG GIRL ACCUSES YOUTH OF ASSAULT

Allegations that he had committed an indecent assault on Chan Sau-kam, a 16-year old girl, and had assaulted her father by striking him several blows and inflicting a cut on his head with a stone, were made against Wan Hing, odd-job restaurant fold, when he made his appearance before Mr. W. Schofield at the Central Magistracy yesterday afternoon, on charges of indecent assault and common assault at Clarence Terrace.

The girl alleged that about 2.30 p.m. on August 23 the defendant came up from behind her in the street and put his arms around her, and also attempted to pull down her trousers, which he failed to do. She shouted to her father, who came down. The defendant ran away, and with his father she went to defendant's house. She remained in the street, while her father reported the matter to the defendant's parents. Later defendant met her father, and assaulted him, striking several blows.

Chan Chin, the girl's father, said that defendant met him in the street and asked him why he had informed his parents, and then struck him. He fell down after the first blow, and defendant struck him several more blows. Defendant then picked up a stone, and struck him on the head, causing an injury. He became unconscious, and when he recovered, defendant was no longer there. Witness was later removed to the Government Civil Hospital. He had defendant arrested about ten days later.

Splashed Water On Her

Defendant, in the witness box, denied indecent assault, but said that when he went to get a bucket of water from the pipe in the street, the girl was there, and had bound a soiled mat around the water pipe. He asked her to take it away, but she refused. He then splashed her with water, and she ran away, and called to her father. Her father arrived, and began quarrelling with him, and later abused him, while he was at his home, from the street. They then came to blows, and the girl's father threw a stone at him, but missed him. He picked up the stone and threw it back, hitting the man on the head. He then got frightened and ran away, and did not return home for seven days. He met the girl and her mother one day, and apologised for striking the girl's father, and offered compensation.

After Mr. Yuen, defendant's father, had given evidence, the case was adjourned until Monday morning for further enquiry.

The Missions to Seamen kindly sent a signal round the fleet and in due course it was discovered that his father had been a cook on the Suffolk, but had left. A relative, however, was found on the Tamar and eventually communication was established between the father in Fochow and the boy. The boy is now quite well and living in the care of his relatives till he can go to his father.

The behaviour of the inmates was very good, apart from a "little scrap" one night at the Po Yan shelter, which was soon settled.

There were over 140 names on the volunteer roster, there being many from Scouts, Sea Scouts and T.C. H. and the warm gratitude of the Committee is expressed in the report.

The report adds: In conclusion, the members of the Executive Committee feel more and more that the experiment has proved worth while and are greatly encouraged to go forward and increase the number of Shelters. There is no doubt that the men do appreciate what is being done for them and we look forward to the time when there will be permanent Shelters in each district to accommodate all those who are too poor to afford the price of a bed in the winter.

The Society is very grateful to all subscribers, especially to the anonymous donor in Kuan Lum-pur of $500.

The attention of the public is drawn to the annual meeting, which will be held on Tuesday, September 24, at 5.30 p.m. in the Cathedral Hall.

STUDENT'S FEAT IN BERLIN

AN ALL ROUND ATHLETE

Berlin. Germany has discovered a new all-round athlete hope for the 1936 Berlin Olympic Games in young Gerhard Stock, who in the pentathlon attained better marks than Hanns-Heinz Sievert's world's record, set at the international students' games at Turin, Italy, in 1933.

It is true that Stock's career card showed only 3,693 points compared with Sievert's world's record of 4,103,635, yet this in itself is a record since Stock's points were calculated according to the new formula inaugurated since Sievert set his record.

A comparison of actual achievements will prove Stock's supremacy.

"No Bias" goes on to blame the umpire for last Thursday's incident during the semi-final match on the Kowloon Cricket Club green where G. N. Mitchell, one of the competitors, deliberately broke up a head whilst labouring under the mistaken impression that the jack had been buried.

It is in substitution of his remarks that the umpiring in Hongkong is grossly inefficient that "No Bias" comments upon Thursday's incident.

The letter which I have received from "No Bias" is as follows: "May I congratulate you on the attitude you have taken up with regard to the umpiring of lawn bowls matches, with especial reference to foot-faulting."

"The number of players who commit this offence seems to be, if anything, on the increase and I could mention many individuals who never bowl in accordance with the rules."

The R.L.B.A. have no objection to the umpire's duty to enforce the rules, but the most part failed miserably to do their duty to the Association—and to those who do not foot-fault. As an instance of inefficiency I mention the umpire who went down on his knees to measure most carefully the distance between the ball and the jack, when the jack was only twenty feet away.

"What are the Association going to do about it?—This foot-fault business, due to weak umpiring has been going on for years and should be firmly stopped by strong action."

I am sure that the umpire of Thursday's match I must say that I do not agree with "No Bias" that the umpire was to blame, as my remarks yesterday will have shown. It was unfortunate that the string was snapped but that was no excuse whatever for the player's unbecoming action. Nor do I think that the umpire could have stopped the head from being broken up, as the player, after two warnings had been thrown back, had ignored shouted assurances both from the spectators and the umpire.

That this is not yet the limit for the boxer, Munich maiden she proved at the elimination for the championship the forenoon when she heaved the discus 46.97 metres. Unfortunately for her the internationally required number of measuring officials was not present. Hence her feat in the preliminaries could not be registered as a world's record.—United Press.

LITTLE'S BRILLIANT EXHIBITION

AMAZING GOLF IN U. S.

QUALIFIES FOR FINAL

New York, Sept. 13. W. Lawson Little and Walter Emery will contest the final of the American Amateur Golf Championship at Cleveland, Ohio.

The semi-final matches were decided to-day, Little beating Johnny Goodman and Emery winning from Joseph Lynch.

Little played the finest golf of the tournament; his shot-making equalled anything that has been seen in the history of the championship, not excluding the brilliance of Bobby Jones in his hey day.

Little has an amazing record for the week, being fourteen strokes under par.

At the end of the morning round Little was leading Goodman by two holes and at the end of the match he won by four up and three to play.

After leading by four holes at the end of the morning round Emery beat Lynch by four up and three to play.—Reuter.

West Bromwich Albion F.C. show a record profit for last season of £7,768.

A CANTON VISIT

HOLDERS COMING HERE FOR CONTEST

UNCERTAINTY IN ARRANGEMENTS

Hongkong and Canton are to meet in an Interport Lawn Tennis match over the present week-end. That has now been definitely arranged. But what time the matches are to start or what names are to be played to-day is not known. The Hon. Secretary of the Hongkong Lawn Tennis Association is as much in the dark as anybody else.

Such is the unsatisfactory situation which exists in connection with the visit in the Colony of three Canton players who are due to play against the strongest local talent during the next two days.

Canton holders of the Cup presented by Mr. Wong Pook-keung for competition between the two ports, originally wrote a private letter to Mr. E. C. Fincher suggesting the interport and giving the present week-end as the tentative date.

A meeting was hurriedly arranged in Hongkong and a reply sent to Canton accepting the suggestion that the holders visit Hongkong to play for the trophy instead of the match being played in Canton as the conditions of the competition require.

As the suggestion made by Canton was not definite Hongkong replied asking whether the match would be an interport or a friendly engagement.

In the meantime two teams have been standing by to represent Hongkong. One in the event of it being an interport and the other if the contest should be a friendly.

This morning a reply was received from Canton stating that the fixture should be an interport but beyond that nothing further has been arranged.

The matches are to be played at the Chinese R.C. courts this afternoon and to-morrow.

Canton will be represented by G. Bodiker and Lai Kwong-tsun in the singles and Lai Kwong-tsun and Liu Yat-fong in the doubles, the contest being the Davis Cup lines.

Hongkong has selected S. A. Runjahn and G. R. M. Rickerts for the Singles and H. D. Runjahn and Ho Ka-lau for the doubles.

TIGERS AGAIN WIN

New York, Sept. 13. The clash of two of the three leading teams in the National Baseball League, the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants, continues to give the Chicago Cubs an opportunity of increasing their present advantage.

Yesterday the Cardinals beat the Giants but to-day the New York outfit avenged that defeat but in the meantime the Cubs are winning from the Brooklyn Dodgers and are increasing the margin of difference between the top teams.

The Tigers in the American League once again beat the Yankees and only a sensational collapse of the Detroit Club will prevent them from taking part in the World Series.

LAWN TENNIS EXHIBITION IN MANILA

SEVERAL MATCHES WITH COCHET

JAPANESE NOT APPEARING

Henri Cochet, famed French tennis ace who will be seen in action the latter part of this month, will play seven singles matches and two doubles matches during his stay in Manila, according to the Philippine Lawn Tennis Association officials who released the complete playing programme of the visiting star. After Cochet completes his engagements in Manila he may go to Bacolod, Occidental Negros, and to Cebu and Iloilo for exhibition matches, as he has agreed to prolong his stay in the Islands.

Cochet is scheduled to arrive in Manila September 28 aboard the passenger steamer "Jefferson". In the afternoon of the same day, he will play Francisco Aragon, former national champion who recently turned professional.

The big matches of the series, however, are scheduled for Sunday, September 29, and October 6 when Cochet is scheduled to meet Leonardo Garcia, a national and All-Concepcion champion and No. 1 ranking star of the Philippines. These matches will be important, because they will be a test of whether or not Garcia is ready for big international competition.

Cochet is also scheduled to play Mariano Serillon, Juanito Gavin and Lope Yurayao in singles. In doubles, Cochet will be paired with Mauricio Zamora, one of the best doubles players in the Islands. They will play the Gavin brothers on October 1 and the Serillon-Diaz combination on October 2.

Besides these matches, arrangements have been made for Cochet to give demonstrations and lectures for which there will be no admission charge. Cochet will illustrate his lectures with movies.

Three of the Islands' outstanding women players will also play in the Cochet series. Minnie Ochoa, present national champion, will play Ingrid Baumann on September 29 and will meet Estrella Alvaro on October 2.

All games will be played in the centre court at the Rizal Memorial Tennis Stadium.

The Japan Lawn Tennis Association has advised Manila tennis officials that Jiro Yumagishi and Shimamura will not be able to go to Manila. The two Japanese tennis players were invited in connection with the Cochet series.

CAMBRIDGE PLAYER WINS TITLE

AMATEUR GOLF IN GERMANY

MISS A. HOLMES SUCCESSFUL

Bad Ems, Aug. 15. J. S. L. Lyon, captain-elect of the Cambridge team, beat Conde de Ybarra, Spain, by 4 and 3 in the final of the German Amateur Open Championship at Bad Ems yesterday. Miss Audrey Holmes, Thorndon Park, secured the German women's title, beating Miss Elaine Young, of the same club, by 10 and 9.

Lyon had a hard struggle with adversity in the morning, but found his true form in the afternoon, when he was out in 36, one under par, to turn a two-hole deficit into a one-hole lead. He continued to play fine golf and was one under four for the six holes home when the match ended on the 33rd green.

The dominating feature of the match was Lyon's approach, for he was frequently in trouble from the tee and had periods of indifferent putting. His opponent, who recently won the French amateur title, also made many mistakes, but getting the better of the different exchanges he finished the first eighteen holes two up. Both players took over 60. The par of the course is 72.

Lyon was again in trouble from the tee at the first hole in the afternoon, but he won the 20th, where he hit two glorious wooden shots home. The Spaniard's reply was to hole a winning chip at the next to become three up again.

Lyon's victorious rally started at the 22nd, where he holed a long putt. At the next hole he lofted over a dead stymie—for the second time during the day—and finally got on terms at the 25th, where Ybarra took three putts. Two holes later he took the lead, driving over three hundred yards and holing a six-foot putt for three.

A drive into the rough east Ybarra the 29th, Lyon lashing two lovely shots home, and the Englishman won the next after both had found the rough.

A dead stymie robbed Ybarra of a win at the 30th; and he became four down and four to go at the 32nd, where he missed a four-foot putt for the half. Then a half in 3 gave Lyon the title.

MISS YOUNG'S BAD START

Miss Elaine Young, who appeared to be feeling the oceanic acutely, made a disastrous start and was seven down with fourteen holes played. After that she recovered a little and, beginning to drive well, was only four down at the end of the morning round. Both women putted indifferently.

When the afternoon play started Miss Holmes played steady, accurate golf and built up a winning lead.

INTERPORT BOWLS

SLIGHT CHANGE IN PROGRAMME

ARRANGEMENTS OF LOCAL FIXTURES

An alteration in the Shanghai Interport bowls team's programme in Hongkong was announced at a meeting of the Lawn Bowls Sub-Committee held yesterday afternoon.

According to the original arrangements, Shanghai were to play the Kowloon Bowling Green Club on October 14 and Kowloon Docks on October 15. The two dates have been switched round, and Shanghai will meet Kowloon Docks on October 14 and Kowloon Bowling Green Club on October 15.

The Interport dinner will be held at the Kowloon Cricket Club on October 12 commencing at 8.30 p.m. Tickets, which will cost $4 each, will be obtainable at all clubs.

The Sub-Committee fixed the Club de Recreio green for the final of the Open Singles Competition between B. W. Bradbury and R. Duncan. The match will be played on Wednesday, September 18 and will commence at 4.30 p.m. sharp.

Regarding the Aitkenhead Shield match, which annually winds up the local bowls season, the Sub-Committee fixed Saturday, October 19, for the game, which will be played on the Civil Service C. C. Police R. C. and the Craigengower C. C. greens.

The Craigengower C. C. will contribute 12 players, Police R. C. and the Civil Service C. C. eight each, and the Hongkong P. C. Indian R. C., Taikeo R. C., Hongkong Electric and the Yacht Club, four each to the Hongkong team.

For Kowloon, the Kowloon C. C., Kowloon Bowling G. C. and the Club de Recreio will supply 13 players each, and Kowloon Docks 11. B. W. Bradbury was elected captain of the Hongkong side and will be assisted by F. J. Jones and H. Beer in the Selection Committee; while R. Duncan was appointed captain of the Kowloon team and will be assisted by C. B. Hosking and M. de Silva. It was thought by the Sub-Committee that it would be a good gesture for the two finalists of the Open Singles to captain each side.

The match will commence at 2.30 p.m. During the afternoon, a collection will be made for St. Dunstan's. After the Aitkenhead Shield match, a dinner will be held at the Craigengower C. C. followed by a musical evening.

TOTTENHAM NO. 17

PROMOTION AT FIRST ATTEMPT?

(By Charles Buchan)

Another chapter will be written in the history of Tottenham Hotspur during the coming season. Back again in the Second Division, they will renew the promotion struggle under new management, that of Mr. J. Treadwell, the old international half-back.

Pessimism seems to reign supreme in the neighbourhood of White Hart Lane. Everywhere I have been told that the Spurs require practically a new team before they stand any chance of getting back to the upper circle.

This view amazes me, for I thought the advent of the Spurs last season was one of football's minor tragedies. The team had the talent—one has only to recall the many great exhibitions given the previous season to know that fact—yet they lost confidence to such a degree that they looked a very poor side. The talent is still there; it only needs a revival in confidence to bring the Spurs back into the limelight.

INJURED MEN FIT

There is no earthly reason why the Spurs should not play a prominent part in the promotion race. Once Mr. Treadwell has taken stock of the material at his command, I am sure his task will be much easier than he expects.

Of course he has had no time yet to see the players in action, so there can be no question of securing new players at this stage. Mr. Treadwell said to me: "How can I strengthen the team when I do not know which are the weak spots?" After their reckless and ill-advised expenditure last season, I think the Spurs will be better served by a waiting policy.

Young players from Northfleet, including Eddich, a promising outside-left of whom much is expected, and two half-backs are the only newcomers to the staff. Even so, the Spurs are well equipped for the strenuous campaign ahead, especially if Howe, Hall and the other injured players of last year have fully recovered.

Now it is up to the players to atone for their fall from grace. They must cut out all the gallery tricks and turn to the quick-moving positional play that two years ago made them one of the best teams in the country.

The Spurs can do it and I shall be surprised if they are not found among the promotion candidates. Indeed, I confidently expect them to regain their rightful position among the elite at the first attempt.

most epoch-making seasons in the history of the club; promotion won, and now a new and better ground.

The Nest at Rosary Road served its day and purpose for 23 years, but there have been many occasions when the accommodation proved inadequate to the demand. The old Nest possessed the advantage of a good position, but little else could be said in its favour.

When authority decreed that it was unsuitable for large crowds the problem of finding a new home was forced upon the directors. The position was tackled with great thoroughness, and the site of the new ground at Carrow Road is only a few hundred yards away from the old ground.

The turf was already there, and in an incredibly short space of time terraces and stands have been built up around it. When West Ham United assist at the baptismal ceremony on Aug. 31 there will be room for more than 35,000 people.

There is also a new chairman, and Mr. Wright—the Wright man in the right place—has not shirked the increasing financial responsibilities.

The manager has had a busy summer. He has been councillor and adviser, and generally a jack of all trades. Mr. Parker knew what was wanted, and he has seen it done.

"The team?" he said. "Well, we have no star names, but some good youngsters with experience of League football, and we have great hopes of their development and advancement."

Goalkeepers: H. P. Duke, O. H. Jones, F. Hall.

NO. 19-SWANSEA

Optimism Based On Fine Form Last April

Swansea are looking forward to the start of the football season with undiluted eagerness. The reason is not hard to find. In the closing stages of last season the Swans did exceptionally well. It is on this that hopes are based.

Manager Neil Harris told me: "We want to start where we finished off last season. In the last nine games the team played excellent football and if we can strike that form we should be really successful."

The club has faced considerable financial difficulty, but the supporters have subscribed generously. Even so, funds are still badly needed and money is the only obstacle in the way of signing two first-class inside-forwards.

Among the outstanding newcomers are S. Moore, a goalkeeper from Leeds United; J. Illingworth, a full-back from the Spurs, and John Pears, up outside-left from Sheffield United. The list of players is:

Goalkeeper: A. Ferguson, S. Moore (Leeds Utd.). Full-backs: W. Milne, L. Lawrence, J. Caldwell, J. Illingworth (Spurs). Half-backs: J. Lloyd, H. Hamford, J. Warner, J. Harries, R. Simmonds, W. Thomas, J. Parsons (Newport County).

Forwards: W. Mackie (Belfast), W. Davies, W. Dancy, J. Flithy, J. Brain, T. Martin, A. Curwood (Blackpool), T. Olsen, D. Lewis, John Pears (Sheffield Utd.).

Barnsley F. C. have signed Alfred James Wheeler, an inside-forward from Southampton.

SERIAL STORY

One I Love

by LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

CHAPTER XXV

Dusk had begun to descend over the street. In the gray light Janet looked up into Jeff Grant's startled face. She was remorseful. "I meant to tell you before," she said, "only I've been so busy!"

"Where are you going?" Jeff asked.

Janet smiled. "Not very far," she told him. "Only out on the west side. You see, I have a new job and I'll have to live out there."

"Then you're not leaving town?"

"Why, of course not!" The girl laughed. "Did you think I was? Oh, no, I'm not leaving Lancaster but it's just about as much work to pack at it as to move."

"This new job is different from anything I've ever done."

"She told him all about it. She was still talking when they reached the entrance to the rooming house. Janet halted, looking up at the sky.

"I hate to go in," she said. "It's a lovely evening, isn't it?"

"Yes it is. We could take a drive somewhere if you weren't so busy."

Janet lingered in the doorway. "I've got an idea!" she exclaimed suddenly. "Have you had dinner yet?"

Jeff said that he had not.

"Then if you'll go back to the flatness and get some sausages."

"I'll cook some eggs and make toast and we can have a sort of picnic supper. I have part of a cake and enough lettuce for salad. Do you want to do that?"

"Sure! That's a great idea!"

When he arrived 15 minutes later Janet had the table set. She wore a high-collared apron and had pushed her sleeves above her elbows. The coffee pot was sizzling and its fragrant aroma filled the air.

Jeff had made other purchases besides the sausages. He exhibited a box of luscious looking strawberries, a bottle of cream and a box of cheese. "Why, we'll have a feast!" Janet exclaimed.

She pinned another apron about Jeff and set him to hulling the berries while she scrambled eggs and cooked the sausages. By the time they were ready to sit down at the table both of them were laughing. Jeff had been describing his efforts at cooking on a boyhood camping trip.

Janet poured the coffee and handed a cup to Jeff. Heat from the stove had curled the soft tendrils of hair against her cheek into a tight curl. The heat had brought colour into her cheeks, too, and her eyes were shining.

"Isn't this fun?" she said.

"I'll say it is! And the best meal I've had in weeks. Say, you're a real cook!"

The table was covered with a ten towel because both of Janet's lunch cloths were at the laundry. Not all the china was of the same pattern and the tumbler from which Jeff drank was green while Janet's was blue. The box of cheese was still in its original package and the cream in the bottle, just as it had come from the dairy. Nevertheless the dinner party was a success.

Once Janet leaned forward and said, "Listen, Jeff, I want you to tell the Silvanis that I'm coming out to see them just the same. I don't know how my time will be arranged or when I can come but moving isn't going to make a bit of difference. I can't go this Saturday because of moving but after this I'll come every week. You'll tell them, won't you?"

Jeff agreed. He told Janet he'd drive out for her if she'd let him know when she wanted to go.

"Why, of course I will," Janet promised.

They had finished the last of the berries and the last crumb of cake. Jeff said, leaning forward, "I'll be sort of lonesome here with you gone, Janet. It's been nice to have someone to talk to and—well, sort of plan things with."

"I'll miss you, too," the girl assured him. "But it isn't as if I were really going away. We can see each other just the same."

"Oh, sure," he said it carelessly.

Janet glanced at him. She thought, with a warm feeling in her heart, that it was fine to have a friend like Jeff Grant. He had helped her over some hard places. There was the night the holdup man tried to take her purse when Jeff had appeared so miraculously. Without Jeff's aid she could never have helped the Silvanis get on their feet again. But there were other reasons why she was so grateful to this young man. Talking, walking, driving with Jeff had made it easier to fight against the loneliness in her heart.

She spoke quickly. "We have had good times together, Jeff. I'll never forget them. And you'll come to see me after I've moved, won't you?"

"Whenever you'll let me," he told her, smiling. Almost immediately he began talking about a new order his office had received. One of the largest in months. It was a good sign, he assured Janet—buying steel. People were beginning to build again and industry was getting under way. It meant that times would be better before long now.

He stayed for half an hour and then, remembering Janet had said she had packing to do, departed. She saw him several times during the rest of the week. It had been arranged that since Janet would be through at the Every Home office Saturday noon she should move to Mrs. Curtis' home that afternoon and have Sunday to become acquainted with her new surroundings. Then Monday morning she would begin work.

Jeff offered to drive her out to her new home but Janet declined. It would be more correct, she thought, to arrive in a taxi cab. Her trunk and travelling bag had been turned over to the transfer company early Saturday morning.

When the time came to say goodbye to her friends at the Every Home office—to the dreary box-like room in which she had worked for two years—Janet found herself strangely moved. She hadn't expected to feel that way. She was sorry to say good-bye to Mr. Hamilton, of course. She would miss him, his tirades and unreasonableness as much as the other times when he was considerate and kind. She would miss Mr. Hamilton because she was accustomed to working with him and because she admired him sincerely. But Janet was surprised to find—now that she was saying good-bye—that even Madeline, the switchboard operator, and the house girls and others to whom she seldom said more than "good morning" or a few words about the weather seemed to be old friends. They were all part of the life she was leaving behind.

She told them all good-bye at last. She ate a hurried lunch and then rode out to the brick house with the dormer windows, set among all the other impressive houses. This time Janet walked to the door more confidently. She rang the bell and waited.

"You're Miss Hill, aren't you?"

Came the maid in the gray uniform who opened the door. "Mrs. Curtis won't be back until time to dress for dinner," the maid said. "Your trunk's here and I'll show you to your room."

It was a room at the rear of the house on the second floor. It was not very large but it was attractive. The walls were covered with flower-sprigged wallpaper and the woodwork had been painted pale green. There was a green chair about the dressing table and covering one of the chairs. What Janet liked best about the room was that through the ruffled curtains at the windows she could look out on the nodding branches of a tree. A tall tree with the wind rustling its branches so that they bowed and swayed in friendly fashion.

"The bath is over here," the maid was saying, opening another door. "Is there anything else you want, miss?"

Janet turned. "No," she said. "I'll unpack my things. When do you think Mrs. Curtis will be back?"

"Not until after five, most likely. Dinner isn't until seven."

The maid left and Janet stood for a time looking out the window. She could see the ground covered with grass and beyond, in a neighbouring yard, a row of scarlet tulips. Everything was orderly and neat. It was so different from the tack yard and the window that overlooked Mrs. Snyder's laundry always flapping on the clothesline, bare ground in place of grass and half the wooden fence in tumble-down condition.

"I'm going to be lumpy here," Janet whispered to herself defiantly. "I'm going to be!"

Presently she set about unpacking. She was down on her knees before the open trunk when there was a knock at the door. Janet called, "Come in," and the maid appeared.

"There's a call for you on the telephone," she told Janet. "It's a gentleman."

CINEMA NEWS

NOTES FROM THE THEATRES

Nature in the raw is seldom seen mild. And it is in its raw state that you see it in Columbia's "Fury of the Jungle" opening to-morrow at the Queen's Theatre. There have been pictures with South Africa, Burma, Indo-China and other outlandish places as locale, but the locale for this one provides a wilder and more thrill-packed one that has hit the screens to date. The Matto Grosso country of South America, the trackless jungles into which so many have disappeared, is the location, presumably somewhere along the headwaters of the Amazon. Jaguars, boa constrictors and other dangers lurk in the fever soaked jungles; men, more dangerous than either beasts or jungles, have established a village and trading post. There they are all outlaws—criminals of the most desperate nature, hiding from the law, living by might and cruelty. Into this village a white girl is precipitated, at the mercy of the brutes who live there. One man shelters her and wins her for his own. Peggy Shannon is the girl and Donald Cook the boy. The elemental passions of the brute inhabitants of the village and the fever and danger-infested jungle, and the river swarming with crocodiles provide plenty of opportunities for stark and cruel realism.

"Great Expectations"

"Great Expectations" comes to the screen of the King's Theatre next week with the real Dickens flavour untouched, right out of the pages of one of the most human, absorbing and dramatic novels conceived by this greatest of English novelists, an ever-living classic of literature for all time. The story of "Great Expectations" will never grow old. It is just as fascinating and thrilling to-day as it was when Dickens wrote it, almost a hundred years ago, in his beloved house at Gadshill. The story is full of descriptions of his countryside surrounding his home, of the Kentish lanes he loved so well; but it is also vivid with scenes of the London of his day, for Dickens was a great cosmopolitan figure and could write of that great city and its people with more understanding than any writer has been able to do. One of the most interesting scenes in "Great Expectations" is the Cheapside Inn, "Lily and the Swan". The various signs on it, such as "Coffee Room", "Coach Office", etc., were faithfully copied from books such as Cruikshank's "Days of Dickens" and actual places in which Charles Dickens himself stayed. So much attention was paid to getting the Dickensian flavour by Universal in the making of this film, that hardly a detail was overlooked. For example "Jagger's" home, where a great deal of the action in the story takes place, is dignified in the extreme, the furniture suitably selected to reflect the master. The selection of Chippendale and Hepplewhite furniture, the pieces of old needlework on the walls and chairs, and the fine sporting prints, the dumb waiter table, silver, etc., all go to make up a most interesting and realistic picture. A cast of unusual merit interpret the well-known characters of "Great Expectations", including Henry Hull, Florence Reed, Phillips Holmes and Jane Wyatt.

"Cleopatra"

Cecil B. DeMille's big spectacle, "Cleopatra," is showing at the Oriental Theatre to-morrow, Monday and Tuesday. "If you haven't a vital, human story that contains great drama, it is just a waste of time and energy to parade a lot of people and material." So says DeMille, master of the film extravaganza. "All setting and no substance doesn't make a spectacle by any turn of the imagination." Convinced that he had a story powerful enough for his settings, DeMille paraded his people and material in large quantities mount production with Claudette Colbert, Warren William and Henry Wilcoxon in the principal roles. It is estimated that 5,000 people were employed directly on the film. This included actors, extras and technicians. About 2,000 Roman soldiers were 75 tons of armour, helmets and weapons, all of which was made at the Paramount studios. One set alone, the public baths at Rome, took 40,000 square feet of space in which 200 extras bathed and diverted themselves with plenty of elbow room.

"It's a Gift"

Baby Le-Roy and W. C. Fields, the Hollywood feudists, are together again in Fields' newest starring picture

"It's a Gift." Produced by Paramount, it is now at the Queen's Theatre. The story is typically Fieldsian yarn. He is a small town grocer who has all sorts of breaks none of them good, until a remote relative leaves him a sum of money. And with that money he buys a California orange ranch, slight unseen, packs his family into the pre-war six-cylinder and starts for the golden west. The picture, which has had several grand comedy moments up to this point—incidents in the grocery store, Fields' battle with his family for the breakfast eggs and the dizzy shaving scene and comedy on the road. When the family miraculously arrives at the orange ranch and the automobile disintegrates, they are greeted by the prospect of a bleak and desolate patch of sand that probably will not even grow citrus. So Fields sits down and bemoans his ill fortune, but while he is sitting things happen and, almost without realising it, he becomes the possessor of a thriving orange ranch through a series of whimsical events. The last scene shows Fields sitting on the porch of his new home, ready to watch the oranges grow—through the bottom of a glass.

"The Bride of Frankenstein"

Did you ever see a full-grown woman brought to life? All the astounding details of such a miraculous accomplishment were seen at Universal studios recently for the benefit of the cameras, with the infusing of the life into the fantastic form of a woman built up from parts of dead bodies, attached to a blacked skeleton stolen from an underground burial crypt. The feat took place in a great laboratory filled with advanced electrical appliances, and to the accompaniment of spurring flames, showers of sparks and exploding clouds of white smoke, while outside a terrific thunder storm raged and crashed. These scenes now form a part of the strange Universal drama, "The Bride of Frankenstein," starring Karloff as "the monster," and depicted the creating of a mate for the Monster. Himself previously "manufactured" by half-mad scientists in exactly the same manner. The role of the "Female Monster" was played by the noted English actress, Elsa Lanchester, and her make-up in the part is hardly less grotesque than that of the Monster himself. "The Bride of Frankenstein," directed by James Whale, is now playing on the screen of the King's Theatre, and the cast appearing in support of Karloff includes Colin Clive, Valerie Hobson, O. P. Heggie, Ernest Thesiger, Una O'Connor, Dwight Frye, Olive and many others. This hair-raising picture was produced by Carl Laemmle, Jr.

LOTTERY TICKETS

METHOD OF IDENTIFICATION CRITICISED

In submitting that his client had no case to answer, Mr. C. Y. Kwan yesterday contended that the uncorroborated evidence of a conspirator was unacceptable, and severely criticised the method which the prosecution had adopted in asking one of their witnesses to identify the defendant.

The case was the one in which Lau Shun-on, aged 71, was charged with keeping a common gaming house at No. 101 Portland Street, second floor, and with possession of 2,024 po pin lottery tickets, before Mr. Thomson at the Kowloon Magistracy.

Detective-Sergeant E. Franklin appeared for the prosecution, while Mr. C. Y. Kwan defended.

In outlining the case Detective-Sergeant Franklin stated that about 2.30 p.m. on Wednesday last a raid was made upon the second floor of No. 101 Portland Street. On the arrival of the police a Chinese detective knocked upon the door, and after some delay it was opened.

A search was made of the floor and a large quantity of uncompleted po pin lottery tickets were found. There was a large quantity of destroyed tickets on the floor of the verandah, and a large quantity of the tickets was being burnt in the kitchen. Whilst a search was being made of the rear cubicle, a little girl entered the floor carrying a basket which was found to contain 2,024 tickets.

Rope On Door Cut

Kong Yung, C257, corroborated, and stated that when he arrived at the address with the raiding party he called out "Lau Luk-kung". The fourth time witness shouted out he saw defendant standing at the top of the stairway, and as he did not open the door, witness cut the rope with which the door was tied and ascended.

When the girl came to the floor witness opened the door for her, and she entered the rear cubicle. The girl had with her a basket and an umbrella, and when questioned in the presence of Detective-Sergeant Franklin and defendant, as to whom she was going to give the basket, she indicated defendant.

Cross-examined by Mr. Kwan, witness stated that the rear cubicle was unoccupied but contained furniture. Defendant, who was principal tenant of the floor, occupied the front cubicle with his family. Witness did not know if the girl knew defendant.

The little girl stated in evidence, that she received the basket from an old lady at the Mongkok ferry wharf and was given 20-cents and instructed to take it to the second floor of a house in Portland Street. Witness was told to hand the basket to an old man. On arrival at the floor she was questioned by Chinese detective C257 at the top of the staircase.

Pushed Into Cubicle

Cross-examined, the girl alleged that on her arrival at the flat she was pushed into the rear cubicle and questioned by the man who stopped her at the top of the staircase. Defendant was not in the cubicle, but he was called. When witness was given the basket she was told to enquire for a man named "Luk Kung". Witness did not know this man before she went to the address.

After evidence by Chinese detective Pang Chi and Chan Yuk, a woman tenant of the floor, Mr. Kwan submitted that there was no case to answer. He contended that the evidence of a fellow-conspirator could not be accepted if uncorroborated. The little girl had been asked to enquire for a man named "Luk Kung" whom she had never met at all. Before she had time to find the man she was pushed into the cubicle and questioned.

The man was then called in and she was asked to identify him.
 "If it had been an identification parade at a police station I would not murmur," said Mr. Kwan, "and I submit that it was a funny way of identification."
 Mr. Kwan further claimed that there was no evidence in support of the prosecution at all, and that if there was any doubt, that doubt should be given to the defendant.
 In reply to his Worship's contention that there was a case for defendant to answer, Mr. Kwan replied, "In that case I leave the matter entirely in your Worship's hands."
 Defendant was convicted, and a fine of $50, with the alternative of one month's hard labour, was imposed on the first charge, and $300 or four months on the second.

ETHIOPIA'S PLEA

WANTS CONTINUED PEACE

(Special to "Telegraph")

Addis Ababa, Sept. 13. A hope that the Ethiopian New Year, just begun, would bring the peace so ardently desired and indispensable to the nation, was expressed by the Emperor when broadcasting in French.

The Emperor said now that arbitration had found neither Italy nor Ethiopia should be held responsible for the Ualul incident, any excuse for an Italo-Ethiopian war had disappeared.

The Emperor claimed that arbitration to which Italy had refused to submit would show that Ualul was an integral part of the Ethiopian Empire. Despite Italy's opposition in this respect, Ethiopian confidence in the League remained.

Ethiopia did not want war, said the Emperor, but would not submit peacefully. Ethiopia was conscious of having always fulfilled her international obligations and to have made all sacrifices compatible with her national honour and dignity, in order to secure a peaceful solution of the dispute.—Reuter Special.

ITALY HAS NO FEAR SANCTIONS

economic and political predominance. The second suggestion is that M. Laval is doing his utmost to persuade the British to agree to concessions to Italy which will enable Signor Mussolini to call off his war upon Ethiopia.—Reuter.

MUSSOLINI ADAMANT?

Rome, Sept. 13. The tone of Mr. Cordell Hull's appeal to Italy and Ethiopia to refrain from war is regarded here with decided resentment.

M. Laval's speech before the League Assembly has perturbed officials. It is, however, believed that Signor Mussolini will follow his plans, despite the possibility of economic, financial and military penalties being applied.—United Press.

MR. HULL ALARMED

Washington, Sept. 13. Mr. Cordell Hull's statement is regarded as an informal invocation of the Kellogg-Briand Pact, intended mainly for French consumption immediately prior to M. Laval's Geneva speech.

It is known that Mr. Hull is genuinely alarmed at the trend of events in Geneva, and considers that the crisis is the gravest since the outbreak of the world war.

Mr. William G. McAdoo, former Secretary of the Treasury, states: "The United States cannot contribute anything to a peaceful solution. It would be futile to attempt intervention, which might lead to an inextricable position."

Senator King comments: "The Kellogg-Briand Pact seems to have died from inhibition. I doubt whether enough interest could be evoked amongst the signatories even to bring about a meeting."

ROOSEVELT'S VIEW.

President Roosevelt, interviewed at Hyde Park, approved Mr. Cordell Hull's statement and said it constituted the sole activity of the United States concerning the Italo-Ethiopian dispute at present.

Asked to comment on the implications of Mr. Hull's statement, the President said it did not imply that the United States was going to war. He said if war broke out, there would be definite legislation to cover the subject.

Asked what constituted an embargo on implements of war, President Roosevelt remarked that the State Department was studying the whole question.

Mr. Cordell Hull, when interviewed regarding M. Laval's speech, said while he had only read excerpts therefrom, he was pleased with the general spirit of peace demonstrated at Geneva. He indicated that he regarded M. Laval's speech as harmonising with worldwide peace sentiment and strengthening the hope of averting war.—United Press.

LAND PLANE RECORD?

HIGH SPEED CLAIM IN CALIFORNIA

Santa Anna (Cal.), Sept. 13. A new world speed record for land planes is claimed to have been established by Howard Hughes, millionaire film producer and sportsman, in a series of flights over a closed course.

Although the exact time has not yet been computed, officials of the National Aeronautical Association say it was round about 350 miles per hour.—Reuter.

China And League

DEMAND FOR SEAT ON COUNCIL

DECISION DELAYED

Geneva, Sept. 13.

The League Council at a secret meeting to-day discussed China's application for a seat on the Committee but reached no decision.

It was decided the matter required further consideration and it will be discussed at a subsequent meeting.

It is not likely that the matter will be brought up at the present meeting of the League Assembly, which means that the question will be postponed for at least another year.

It is denied in British official quarters that Great Britain is opposed to China's demand for a seat on the Council. Without reference to the merits of the case, it was felt that before a decision could be taken it was essential to have certain assurance that China could command a two-thirds majority of the Assembly, both regarding her eligibility and her election, otherwise there was no chance. If the Council decided upon creating a fifteenth seat, of China securing it, China would possibly see some other aspirant to the Council honours enjoying the requisite support for such a seat.—Reuter.

LINERS' HARD PASSAGES

PRESIDENT JOHNSON 24 HOURS LATE

Two liners which arrived in Hongkong to-day had rough passages for parts of their trips.

The President Johnson, already 24 hours late, experienced the worse weather.

"We were just on the edge of the typhoon and it was very rough," said the captain this morning, "but she's a good old ship and though we shipped a good deal of water she behaved splendidly."

The Empress of Asia also experienced one very rough day when she got within 100 miles of the centre of the typhoon. She was not delayed, however, though she is running late on account of a special call made at Honolulu for the benefit of a number of tourists, mainly school teachers, who were returning from vacations spent in America.

Both ships leave at 6 p.m. to-day for Manila.

GERMANY ON WAY TO RECOVERY

CONSOLIDATING HER FLOATING DEBT

Berlin, Sept. 12.

Germany is now in a position to consolidate her floating debts, is on the way to complete recovery, and will again find it possible to accumulate new savings, declared Dr. Schacht, Germany's economic dictator, in a statement made to-day.

Dr. Schacht added that this was the reason for the floating of a Reich loan of a milliard marks.—Reuter Special.

PLEGGED TO HITLER

GERMANS ABROAD MUST BE LOYAL

(Special to "Telegraph")

Berlin, Sept. 13. Germans from Great Britain and other countries held a meeting at the Nazi Party Congress at Nuremberg to-day and were addressed by Herr Hitler and his deputy, Herr Rudolph Hess, both of whom stressed the duty of Germans living abroad to be loyal to Germany and to Hitler, though obeying the laws of their country of adoption.

The oath was administered by Herr Hess, who declared that while the Party leaders would never give them orders incompatible with the laws of their country of adoption nevertheless expected them to be loyal to him, to have faith in him in all circumstances, and never violate their oath to him for the sake of their personal advantage or disadvantage.—Reuter Special.

ANGLO-FRENCH ACCORD

London, Sept. 13.

The French Prime Minister's ten-minute speech in the League Assembly this morning, in which he said that France was bound by the Covenant of the League and would not shirk her responsibilities, is welcomed in London as a public endorsement that French policy is in complete alignment with British and as contributing to the prospects of a peaceful settlement.

M. Laval said the Committee of Five were discussing every proposal which might reconcile the difference between Italy and Ethiopia. According to Geneva messages, the Committee is meeting again on Monday.—British Wireless.

CANTON-NANKING

CHIANG'S REPRESENTATIVE LEAVES SUDDENLY

Canton, Sept. 13.

The movements of Mr. Chiang Park-cheng, Marshal Chiang Kai-shek's personal delegate to Canton, have attracted some attention.

It is reported that Mr. Chiang has received a telegram from Marshal Chiang a few days ago instructing him to go to Szechuen immediately. Later it was learned that Mr. Chiang replied to Marshal Chiang stating that he wished to remain in Canton for a few days more for further consultation with General Chan Chai-long.

Mr. Chiang called on Mr. Yang Tak-chao, General Chan Chai-long's personal representative to Nanking, yesterday afternoon. Later he called on General Chan Chai-long at Army Headquarters accompanied by Mr. Yang. It is understood that he had a conversation with General Chan at over an hour. No details of the conversation are available but it is believed that they were discussing the problem of Canton-Nanking rapprochement.

This morning when pressmen called at the hotel where Mr. Chiang has been staying since his arrival, it was found that he had left the city for Hongkong by the morning express.—Wah Kiu Yat Po.

Washington, Sept. 13.

Senator W. G. McAdoo, a former Secretary of the Treasury, is to marry Miss Doris Cross Young, a nurse, of California, to-morrow.

This will be Senator McAdoo's third marriage. His first wife died in 1912, whilst his second, who is a daughter of the late President Woodrow Wilson, obtained a divorce in July last year on the grounds of incompatibility.—Reuter.

Tokyo, Sept. 13. Some 700 buildings were destroyed at Shibata, Niigata, prefecture, by fire, which broke out in the centre of the city at 8.40 a.m., and raged unchecked for nearly eight hours, owing to the failure of water facilities. It threatened destruction of the entire town.
